CAL IS TAKING LIBERAL VIEW ON NICARAGUA

Dispatch of Henry L. Stimson Is Effort to Reduce Danger of Revolt

MAY AGREE ON TREATY
Stimson Will Recommend Definite Course of Action After His Survey

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1927 By Post Pub. Co.
Washington—President Coolidge has determined to tackle the problem of relations with Nicaragua on a broad basis that will guide his administration in the future in dealing with Central American questions.

The dispatch of Henry L. Stimson, former secretary of war, to Nicaragua, is an effort to work out an arrangement whereby the danger of continuous revolution will be diminished.

Whether this will be accomplished by means of a treaty wherein the United States will agree to "secure recognition only to certain governments that come into power by legal means or whether it will mean a treaty that will permit American supervision of the country is not known to anyone here, because when Mr. Stimson gets on the ground and gathers together all viewpoints, he himself will be in a better position to recommend a course of action.

GOES AS LAWYER

Mr. Stimson is a lawyer rather than a diplomat. He does not go as a substitute for the American minister or because there is any lack of confidence in the latter. He goes primarily because the negotiation of a proper treaty is a difficult matter to take up by correspondence.

First of all, the treaty relations of the United States are vague. The United States, under Secretary of State Hughes, encouraged the Central American powers to adopt treaties as between themselves governing the conditions under which they would recognize legal governments, but the United States was itself not a party to those treaties. Some of those provisions have been found a bit too rigid and there has been a suggestion of change.

In any event, the United States is willing to make a treaty governing recognition which will hit the same time as the election of a president. The United States is willing to make a treaty governing recognition which will hit the same time as the election of a president.

SUPREME COURT WILL REVIEW JESSNER CASE

Madison—(AP)—The state supreme court Saturday signified its intention of reviewing the evidence in the trial of Rudolph Jessner, Madison bootlegger, who is now serving a life sentence at Waupun for the murder of Palmer Thompson, Madison policeman. Thompson was shot to death in January, 1926.

Upon appeal of Fred M. White, attorney, who with William Rubin, Milwaukee, defended Jessner at his trial, the supreme court issued an order upon the Dane county circuit court to produce all the evidence for review.

DENIES RUMOR

Washington—(AP)—Senator King of Utah, Saturday issued a denial of reports that he had criticized the use of American troops to protect American property in a recent speech to soldiers and sailors on the transport St. Michel.

The reports, published Saturday in the Washington Post, said the senator had been taken to task by a young army officer aboard, who had declared the tone of the speech was un-American.

PROBE WAUPUN GUARD LOBBY FUND CHARGE

Prison Employees Alleged to Have Raised Money to Reduce Working Hours

Waupun—(AP)—The legislative inquiry into conditions at Waupun state prison took a new turn Friday when eight guards admitted contributing to a fund of $170 which they said they understood was to be paid Sam Gettelman, Milwaukee, brother of State Senator Gettelman, to lobby for a bill to reduce hours of prison guards from twelve to eight. The bill was introduced by the state senator.

Sam Gettelman has issued a denial of the testimony and the state senator declared his brother had not influenced him in any way in the introduction of the bill.

The day's inquiry also brought testimony from several guards that Deputy Warden Taft was "hot-tempered, domineering and used abusive language both to employees and prisoners, in violation of regulations."

ACTION AGAINST LAW

Under the Wisconsin lobby law, state employees are not permitted to act as registered lobbyists for outside interests. Even though the matter is perhaps not within the jurisdiction of the visiting committee to take up, Senator J. H. Carroll, chairman of the committee, said Friday night that the facts in the case will be brought to light.

"We are going to find out all about that $170, don't worry about that," he answered. "We'll summon Senator Gettelman, his brother, and as many other persons as we deem necessary to get the facts."

PROHIBITION AGENTS RAID MILWAUKEE HOTEL

Milwaukee—(AP)—For the first time in the history of prohibition in Milwaukee, a raid was made late Friday on the bar of what is a hotel in the ordinary sense of that word. The Globe hotel bar was the one raided. The hotel proprietor, Ben N. Scherer, a former president of the Milwaukee Hotel Men's association, was arrested.

Federal agents searched the place, finding 22 half barrels and 10 cases of beer. Harry Levitas, who, prohibition agents say is the operator of the bar, was taken Saturday before Harry L. Kellogg, United States commissioner.

19 DIE IN KANSAS-OKLAHOMA FLOOD

THOUSANDS OF ACRES UNDER RIVER WATERS

14 Mexicans Drown in Oklahoma—Hundreds of Head of Livestock Perish

Kansas City—(AP)—With 19 known dead in Kansas and Oklahoma and thousands of acres of valuable land inundated, new flood warnings were broadcast Saturday as streams rose to record marks following cloudbursts that crippled traffic and communications throughout a large area.

Most railroads in southeastern Kansas and northern Oklahoma were forced to reroute trains following three derailments Friday in which three persons perished and more than a score were injured.

Fourteen Mexicans drowned near Rocky Ford, Okla., when the Washita river rose several feet in a few hours. This brought the Oklahoma dead to 16, while hundreds of head of livestock drowned when farmers were forced to flee.

E. L. Phillips, engineer; Dave Ball, fire man, and an unidentified man drowned when a northbound M. K. and T. passenger train No. 22, plunging into a washout, near St. Paul, Kan.

The engine and ten cars toppled into a ditch. Fifteen passengers were injured. The southbound section of this train also struck a washout near St. Paul and several persons were slightly injured.

A special train carrying marines from eastern points to San Diego for duty in China, narrowly averted being derailed when an unidentified man notified the station agent of a washout near Walnut Kans. early Friday morning. A red flare stopped the train on the edge of a raging creek that had undermined the tracks. The train was re-routed.

A Missouri-Pacific train struck a washout near Engleware, Kans. Fourteen cars were derailed, but no one was injured.

The Arkansas, Verdigras and Neosho rivers poured most of the water across the Kansas-Oklahoma border. Reports from the headwaters of these streams in south central Kansas indicated tributaries would remain at high marks Saturday which would bring the crest to Oklahoma Saturday night and Sunday.

DANCER PAYS FINE FOR STAGING IMMORAL ACT

Milwaukee—(AP)—Hinda Wausau, dancer at Empress burlesque theatre, was fined $50 in district court Friday afternoon on conviction of a charge of having put on an immoral act.

Hinda, whose real name is Catherine Wausaukas, is now in Cleveland, Ohio, and Harry Goldenberg, manager of the theatre who had provided the bail money for the dancer at the time of her arrest, paid the fine. Mrs. Emma Meyer, police matron, testified that the dance was indecent and repulsive with suggestive wiggles. The fine was imposed by Judge A. J. Hedding.

RANGERS HOLD COURT IN TEXAS OIL TOWN

Cowboy Officers Order Undesirables to Leave Borger—Moody May Send Troops

Borger, Texas—(AP)—The trend of Borger's oil boom traffic was reversed Saturday as Texas rangers expedited the exodus of painted women and gamblers in conformity with Governor Dan Moody's order to "clean up" the Pan Handle.

Operating in characteristic ranger fashion, the cowboy officers held hearings Friday for a part of the 250 persons arrested in raids and listed as undesirables. Several were ordered to leave "right now." They did.

Women soon appeared on highways leading from Borger to other oil field camps. Groups of gamblers also walked until they could obtain transportation. Many carried bundles of packages. Some of the refugees announced they would visit another Pan Handle boom town.

The rangers ordered many gamblers and women held for hearings Saturday while investigation was also continued of conditions of nearby camps.

Better Homes Show Held Over Until Sunday Night

Because of the insistent demand of the public for more time to view the exhibits, the Pure Food and Better Homes show being conducted at the armory under auspices of the Appleton Post-Crescent will be continued through Sunday, it was announced Saturday morning by Frank Griffith, manager.

The exposition was scheduled to close Saturday night, but the huge crowds which have attended since the program opened last Wednesday afternoon has convinced its sponsors that the public wants it held over for a day.

The program will open at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon and will be continuous until the closing hour late Sunday night.

Another record breaking crowd packed the armory Friday afternoon and evening. The attendance was so large Friday night that it was practically necessary for one to move slowly along with the crowd instead of as one wished. Despite the crowd, the people were handled in such a manner that everyone was able to see all the exhibits.

The feature programs will be offered Saturday and Sunday nights, when special entertainment will be presented. Orchestral music again will be furnished Saturday and Sunday afternoons by the Rainbow Garden musicians, and a special orchestra and a male quartet will entertain Saturday night.

Some 5,000 persons who crowded Symphony hall, and uncounted thousands of others who listened by radio were divided as to who won the debate. There was no official decision but the Boston Herald, Republican, appointed nine Republicans of state prominence as unofficial judges. Their vote was 6 to 3 in favor of the senator.

As to prohibition in general, the Herald construed the sympathies of the judges as evenly divided. The debate was sponsored by the Progressive-Republican organization, the Roosevelt club, Inc., and countenanced, even though the political issue may not have been, by the presence on the platform of the chairman of the Republican National committee, William M. Butler.

The disputants agreed on the first side of liquor, Dr. Butler said. "It is more important than any since the issue of slavery and secession. It is primarily and chiefly a question of government of the protection and perpetuity of the form of government established by the constitution. My appeal is from the legislative and judicial branches of the government to the American people to undo the damage done and correct that stupendous error."

Senator Borah urged, however, "to abandon prohibition now would be to betray the principles of the party. It would be criminal to break down and disregard the constitution. What we need is not a party giving orders to retreat but orders to advance. The Republican and Democratic parties may sidestep this issue, but the people will not."

In declaring the subject a national issue, the speakers varied somewhat. Dr. Butler said:

It is primarily and chiefly a question of government of the protection and perpetuity of the form of government established by the constitution. My appeal is from the legislative and judicial branches of the government to the American people to undo the damage done and correct that stupendous error."

VIOLATES DRY LAW; GETS SENTENCE OF 10 MONTHS

Milwaukee—(AP)—Found guilty by a jury in United States district court on a charge of violating the Volstead act, John Rochel, proprietor of a saloon at Fond du Lac, was sentenced to 10 months in the house of correction and fined $500 by Judge F. A. Geiger Friday.

Rochel had pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging him with possession of beer and liquor for sale. Joseph Goldstein, Milwaukee, pleaded guilty to having perjured himself in connection with a bankruptcy proceeding and was sentenced to eight months in the workhouse.

PACK CHAPEL AS CONTRALTO GETS DEGREE

Lawrence Confers Doctor of Music Degree on Madame Schumann-Heink

More than 1,500 persons crowded Lawrence Memorial chapel Saturday morning to see the ceremonies in honor of Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink, world known contralto for 50 years, who was given an honorary doctor's degree by Lawrence conservatory of music. An academic procession of faculty members of Lawrence college was formed at Main hall and marched to the chapel.

The degree is the first honorary one granted by the conservatory. A camera man from the International News service was here to take motion pictures of the ceremonies.

The Lawrence men's glee club of 40 voices sang two selections: "Lochinvar" by Hammond and "Sword of Ferrara" by Bulard. Carl S. McKee, vocal teacher at the conservatory, sang a solo part in "Lochinvar."

The degree is the first honorary one granted by the conservatory. A camera man from the International News service was here to take motion pictures of the ceremonies.

MURDER WITNESS IS KILLED BY ASSASSIN

Chicago—(AP)—An assassin's bullet Friday night scalped the lips of Alex Burba, 25, who was to have been the state's star witness in the forthcoming trial of three men for murder. Burba was killed at his home when he came to the door to see a stranger.

Burba was the only eye-witness to the slaying last September of William G. Gerard, cigar store owner, shot during a holdup. It was largely through his identification that Joseph Fale, Riccio Amersius and Samuel Glanville were indicted for the killing. All are at liberty under $30,000 bonds each, awaiting trial.

WIFE IS VICTOR IN HUSBAND'S ACTION

Stevens Point—(AP)—Divorce action brought by Carlton E. Fox against his wife, Mrs. Gladys Graham Fox, was dismissed here Friday by Judge Byron B. Park.

The contention of Mrs. Fox that her separation from her husband five years ago was not voluntary and did not constitute desertion was upheld, and she was granted costs and a judgment dismissing the action.

This was the fifth court victory Mrs. Fox has won as a result of her matrimonial difficulties. After four sensational court cases against Albert Fuchs, her father-in-law, millionaire florist and real estate dealer of Chicago, she was awarded $50,000 in alimony.

In her alienation suit, Mrs. Fox charged that Fuchs influenced his son to attempt to rid himself of her by cruelty because he wanted his son to marry a German-born woman or one of German descent. She claimed the father offered $10,000 for each German grandson born to him and $5,000 for each German granddaughter.

Mrs. Fox receives under court order of separate maintenance $500 a month from her husband, which is guaranteed by his father. Fox is at present proprietor of a summer resort at Wisconsin Rapids, 12 miles from here, where the divorce action was heard last February.

SAILS FOR U. S.

RAMSEY McDONALD

FORMER BRITISH PREMIER ON TRIP TO UNITED STATES

Devotion to Memory of American Woman Rumored Cause of His Voyage

London—(AP)—Behind the prosaic news that Ramsey MacDonald, one time British premier, is sailing for the United States Saturday, aboard the S. S. Aquitania, lies a love story which turns the voyage into a pilgrimage to the land he visited 30 years ago during the days of his greatest happiness.

Since then honors of state have been heaped upon him. From the obloquy of the world war period when he was reviled as a traitor to his country and was probably the worst-hated man in all Britain, Mr. MacDonald reentered public life, became prime minister, a confidant of King George V. and one of the most powerful men of post-war Europe.

A lonely figure, for all he has been a lonely figure, for one person above all others with whom this dour, but romantic Scotsman would have dared to share his honors, passed from his presence 15 years ago, but not from his life. Two rings that he wears on his left hand are the symbols of the lasting dedication of his devotion to a woman's memory.

It was a wedding trip that first took the MacDonalds to the United States and it was hostess in that country who gave such perfect courtesy to Mr. MacDonald and his bride that he has never forgotten it. It is to accept an invitation from this hostess of many years ago that Ramsey MacDonald is crossing the Atlantic again, this time a widower and with his daughter Isabel to renew old memories.

Mr. MacDonald has refused to reveal the name of the lady to be his hostess, fearing that the attendant publicity would embarrass her.

HEART STOPS 3 TIMES, BUT INJURED MAN LIVES

Milwaukee—(AP)—Victim of an automobile accident on the Port Washington road Friday night, Thomas McGonigle was three near death. His heart stopped three times and in each case started again when a pulmotor was used. McGonigle has a fractured skull. Physicians say he may live.

McGonigle, who is manager of the American Optical Co., was one of four persons injured in automobile accident Friday night.

In a collision between a street car and automobile early Saturday Clayton M. Hill, Philadelphia chemist and engineer, was severely bruised and cut about the head and shoulders. He was driving a rented sedan which collided with a westbound Wells street car. Two of his slight injuries were Ralph Smith, 26, Occoche insurance agent, and Miss Lorraine Eastman, 21, of St. Paul.

HUSBAND MISSING 24 HOURS AFTER WEDDING

Chicago—(AP)—A 24-hour honeymoon came to an abrupt finish when the bride appeared at a police station Saturday and sobbed that the man to whom she had been married Thursday had disappeared. Mrs. Ella Sorin, 20, of Racine, met Charles R. McDonald, 24, of Greenville, Ill., recently out of the army, in Detroit several days ago. They came here and were married Thursday. The following day McDonald left his hotel to find a job, but did not return, his bride told the police.

VANZETTI AND SACCO FACING DEATH IN CHAIR

England, Switzerland and Germany Also Send Pleas for Clemency

MURDER IS 6 YEARS OLD
Attempts to Obtain Intervention of Federal Courts Are Expected

Paris—(AP)—An appeal for pardon in behalf of Sacco and Vanzetti has been sent to the Washington government under the signatures of former Premier Caillaux, Mme. Dorian, president of the French League for the Rights of Man, and Leon Jouhaux, secretary of the labor federation.

A protest meeting Friday night, organized by Paris communists, was attended by about two thousand persons, but there were no prominent speakers and the proceedings passed without incident.

A similar meeting was held at Havre.

Dedham, Mass.—(AP)—Sentence to death in the electric chair in the week of July 10 was imposed Saturday upon Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, whose fight for a new trial after their conviction for murder in first degree in 1921 has aroused interest in many countries. Judge Webster Thayer of the Superior court, who presided at their trial, pronounced the sentence.

Ten minutes before the hour set for the court to convene Sacco and Vanzetti were brought to the courthouse. Sacco had been in the county jail at Dedham, and Vanzetti in the state prison at Charlestown, where he has been serving a ten to fifteen year term for robbery.

SHACKLED TOGETHER
The two men were brought in a motor by two windows covered with iron bars. They were shackled together and to a guard on either side.

Judge Thayer came into the court room at 10.05. Sacco and Vanzetti, handcuffed together, took their places in the prisoner's cage. Neither showed any emotion.

After District Attorney Wilbur had moved that the sentence of both be pronounced and suggested the week beginning Sunday July 10 for its execution, Judge Webster Thayer turned to Nicola Sacco with the formula: "Have you anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced on you?"

"Yes," said Sacco, as he stepped forward. Then in English, sometimes broken with a decided accent and sometimes faulty grammar, he made his final plea:

"I never knew, I never heard, I never read, even in history, of the oppression of cruelty of this court. After seven years of prosecution, they still consider us guilty. I've never been guilty, never."

Vanzetti addressed the court at some length and accused Judge Thayer of always having been prejudiced against him. He spoke in somewhat a better English than Sacco but occasionally broke into Italian.

"In all my life," he said, I have never stolen and never killed. I have struggled all my life to eliminate crime from the earth. I have never had to go out and steal and kill to get money. I can earn my living with these two hands. I have been able to live a higher life than by crime."

The Humble Cow and Classified Ads

The humble cow and classified advertisements make a very workable combination. Good cows are in great demand around the countryside and Post-Crescent Classified ads are very efficient in spreading the news that someone has cows for sale. The moment such an advertisement appears the cow "Demanders" are on the job, because folks as a rule have formed the habit of reading the classified section of the Post-Crescent every day. Mr. Zeno Neenah, R. R. No. 11, Neenah, Wis., inserted an ad recently offering five (5) cows for sale. The second day of ad publication the cows were sold. Small outlays, big returns on small Classified ads. Advertiser 343.

VETERANS' LOAN BLANKS RECIEVED AT POSTOFFICE

Veterans May Get Loans or Adjusted Compensation Certificates

Veterans' loan blanks have been received at the Appleton postoffice and several have been distributed to World war veterans who wish to get loans on their adjusted compensation certificates. A ruling passed by the government makes the United States Veterans Bureau a loaning office on the certificates which opens up a way for veterans who wish to raise loans on certificates at this time.

All loans must be made through the United States Veterans Bureau but the local postoffice may assist in the matter. The loan must be paid back one year after the check is issued by the bureau. "The blanks read: 'If the principal and interest of this note are payable at its maturity, I agree to the automatic extension of the note from year to year for periods of one year in the amount of the principal plus interest to the end of the immediately preceding expired loan year, which total amount shall automatically become a new principal each year and shall bear interest at the rate fixed by law until paid.'"

A collateral security the borrower is required to deliver his adjusted service certificate to the bureau. A certificate of identification may be executed by the postmaster of the community in which the veteran lives, or by an officer of a post, chapter or other comparable unit of an organization recognized by the bureau, or an officer of the state or national body of such organization or a notary public, the specifications stated.

The policy of bodies interested in the welfare of the ex-service man has been to discourage asking for loans on adjusted compensation certificates. It is always easier to take than to pay back the loans, it is explained.

DUNN BEAUTY PARLOR CHANGES MANAGEMENT

Announcement has been made of a change in management of the Dunn Beauty parlor at Conway hotel. Henceforth it will be known as the Conway Beauty shop. William Buetow, who has been in charge for three years, and Miss Emma Dietman, who has been operating a shop in Milwaukee but worked at the Dunn shop for two years, will be the new proprietors. The rooms have been remodeled.

Mrs. M. G. Dunn, former manager, now is operating a shop at Neenah but expects to go to Minneapolis to enter business in the summer.

TRADE SCHOOL BOYS GUESTS OF TEACHERS

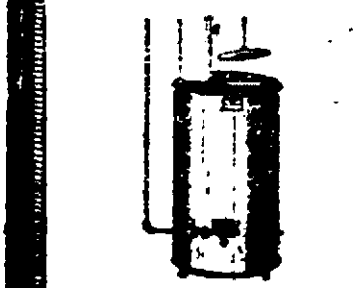

Fifty boys of the vocational school were guests of the faculty and hostesses of the Y. M. C. A. at a party at the association building Friday evening. The party opened with relays, volleyball and other games in the gymnasium, in charge of Everett Wright, assistant physical director. After the gymnasium program the boys went into the pool and then returned to the club rooms for a lunch and a program. Practically every male faculty member of the school was present. The next social for the employed boys will be held on Friday evening, April 29, with the Monday group of boys of the school in charge of the program.

Schumann-Heink Is Great Artist But Better Friend

Some seventeen or eighteen hundred persons heard Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink sing her farewell concert in Lawrence Memorial chapel Friday night and carried away delightful memories of one of the most interesting characters in American public life in the last half century.

The great contralto's farewell appearance here was a success from whatever angle it is considered. As an artistic performance it was a triumph and as an entertainment it will perhaps be even better remembered than as a concert. For Madame Schumann-Heink won the hearts of her audience as much by her graciousness, her neighborliness and her showmanship as she did by her voice.

From almost her first step on the stage she was in the confidence of her audience. The wide gap that usually separates a great artist from those who are not was quickly closed by her friendliness and the audience soon took her as one of them. It was hard to believe the portly woman with the golden voice was a great artist and a stranger. She was more like a neighbor who just ran over for an evening.

REMEMBERED AS "MOTHER"

The spontaneous tribute which the huge audience gave the contralto when she came on the platform was without precedent in Appleton and it is doubtful if such an honor has been accorded many singers anywhere. As by signal, but really without prearrangement of any sort, the big crowd rose to its feet when Madame Schumann-Heink stepped into the view. Such tribute is reserved for only the truly great, but the contralto proved before the evening was over that the honor was not misplaced.

Madame Schumann-Heink sensed the way the audience felt toward her in her goodnight to the crowd in which she asked the people to remember her after she had ceased singing, not as "Madame" Schumann-Heink but as "Mother" Schumann-Heink. And that's the way the audience regarded her all evening.

Artistry, the occasion, her audience, everything was forgotten for a moment during the evening when the contralto received a huge basket of roses from the American Legion. At the conclusion of the first part of her program an obviously embarrassed D. J. Kenny, commander of the state department of the legion, climbed on the platform and haltingly but sincerely paid the homage of the veterans to one of their dearest friends. Mr. Kenny, with considerable experience as a public speaker, wasn't embarrassed or bothered by the crowd, but making a speech to one's mother is a different sort of a proposition.

"Thirty thousand legionnaires, members of the auxiliary and of the national guard want you to know that we love you," the young man told the singer, and he had hardly offered the flowers taken from One Johnston post when the singer, the weight of 65 years resting lightly on her ample shoulders, grasped him in her arms and kissed him soundly while the audience roared its approval.

Three or four more times during the evening baskets and bouquets of flowers found their way to the stage and the grand old lady placed them reverently on the floor before the standards containing the national and the legion colors.

BACK TO AUDIENCE

Three times during the evening the artist turned her back to the great audience in the main portion of the chapel and sang intimately to the fifty or seventy-five persons who were obliged to take seats on the chapel platform if they wished to hear her. This bit of graciousness to those who braved the embarrassment of spending an evening before the public was not lost on the rest of the crowd and only served to emphasize her friendliness. There aren't many artists who would do that, or who could do it and get away with it.

There isn't much that need be said about her singing. Schumann-Heink is a great artist. That's about all there is to it. Perhaps her voice isn't quite what it was twenty-five or thirty years ago but it still is good enough to rank with the best. Fifty years is a long time in any person's life, but 11 years have been kind to Schumann-Heink. The buoyancy of her nature held her up through many crushing hours and memories of glories that were hers before many people in her audience last night were born have spurred her on to new heights in this farewell tour.

Her program, varied and charming, fitted her personality. No doubt some of the secret of her phenomenal success has been her ability to arrange programs that do suit her and if they suit her they surely suit the crowd. When she sang "Silent Night, Holy Night" as an encore number one could almost smell the balsam and see the holly wreaths of Christmas. And more than one furtive handkerchief was dabbed on noses when she sang "Danny Boy" as another encore number. For minutes after she had concluded "Taps" while the pianist was sounding the final chords, a stillness that would have enabled one to hear the proverbial pin drop anywhere in the house proved the tremendous hold which the contralto had on her audience.

Miss Florence Hardeman, violinist, assisted the artist. The young player showed much promise and was received with enthusiasm by the audience. Her principal scores were the Lalo "Symphonie Espagnole," the Chopin-Spaullding "Valse in G Flat," the Koschat "Corinthian Melody," and the Sinigaglia "Rhapsodie Piemontese."

A sympathetic accompaniment to both singer and violinist was played by Stewart Myle. He caught the warmth and color which is the charm of the great contralto's voice and personality.

POULTRYMEN FIGHT BILL TO DROP AID

Adoption of Measure Would Handicap Fox River Poultry
Association

If the bill recently introduced in the state senate proposing to eliminate the annual $5,000 state aid for poultry shows is adopted by the legislature, the Fox River Poultry and Pet Stock association would be seriously handicapped in conducting its annual shows, according to George L. Loos, president.

Although abolition of the aid would kill a number of the smaller poultry associations in Wisconsin, the local association could continue its endeavors, only on a smaller scale, he indicated. The bill is opposed by 35 poultry breeders' associations in Wisconsin.

The Appleton association has for a number of years received the maximum aid from the state, $200. It is necessary to have at least 600 exhibitors before this sum can be had.

From $700 to $800 is required to conduct a show, according to Mr. Loos. For a number of years the association has been receiving $500 aid from the county. At its last show in January the association failed to meet its expenses.

"If the state aid should be taken away from us, we would have to slice our premium lists considerably," Mr. Loos said. "I do not see why we could not continue to conduct our shows, but it is certain that the task would be much more difficult."

LEGIONAIRES WANT COOLIDGE TO BE AT STATE CONVENTION

President Has Promised to Attend if He Vacations in Wisconsin

Erk Madisen, editor of the Badger Legionaire, was one of the speakers at a banquet given Thursday evening at Marinette by the Teddy Budlong post of the American legion of that city for 250 business and professional men.

The meeting was for the purpose of outlining plans for the state legion convention which will be held in Marinette in August. Practically every business man of the city responded to the invitation of the post and 40 had to be turned away from the dinner to come to the meeting later, Mr. Madisen said.

The Marinette post has the assurance of former Senator L. L. Lenroot that President Coolidge will attend the convention if the summer White House is in Wisconsin. General John J. Pershing and Herbert Hoover also have been invited to attend. A feature of the convention will be the state bathing beauty contest. An effort will be made to bring the Great Lakes fleet to Marinette for the convention and efforts also are being made to raise funds to accept the challenge of William Wrigley for an international marathon swim in Green Bay during the convention.

Among the speakers Thursday, beside Mr. Madisen, were D. J. Kenny, West Bend, state commander of the

Y'S-MEN SEND LETTER TO INJURED TRACK COACH

A letter of felicitation was sent Saturday to Chester Willey, coach of East Green Bay high school athletic teams by the Appleton Y's Mens club. Coach Willey suffered a fractured skull when he was hit by a shot in track practice this week. He is a prominent member of the Green Bay Y's Mens club and was well known to local members.

Miss Ida Ashman returned Wednesday from a month's visit at Bloomington, Ill.

Is it good business to run a garden on guess-work?

"I GUESS these seeds are all right," is a dangerous attitude to take when you buy seeds. But how often gardeners who "guessed" in the spring found they were wrong at harvest!

You don't have to "guess" when you buy Ferry's purebred Seeds. They come from wonderful parent plants and are tested to determine that they are true to type. More extensive seed tests are carried on at our experimental grounds than anywhere else in the United States.

There are "cheaper" seeds than Ferry's. But Ferry's purebred Seeds at ten cents per packet are the cheapest seeds you can buy when you consider that countless tests have proved them capable of producing better gardens than ordinary seeds. Any other seeds would cost you as much as Ferry's if they had the same ancestry and were tested with the same care.

Buy Ferry's purebred Seeds, clean and tested, "at the store around the corner," from the familiar Ferry Box. No hold-overs from last season. Write for free copy of Ferry's Seed Annual. D.M. Ferry & Co., Detroit, Mich.

HERZIGER SETS PAGE IN ATHLETIC PARK CAMPAIGN

Neenah — John Herziger led Kiwanis team captains in the athletic field campaign, by securing $275 in one afternoon. Several individual pledges have been made to the chairman of the committee, running the total up to $2,000. The high school athletic association has pledged $100 and the Kiwanis club has voted $500. Mrs. Donald Shepard pledged $100.

$70,000 ESTATE SPLIT UP BY SANDERS' WILL

Neenah — A final judgment in accordance with terms of the will has been made in the estate of Albert T. Sanders of Pisk, father of Arthur Sanders of Neenah. There is a residue of $67,957.06 in cash, stock, notes and mortgages, besides real estate. Among the individual bequests were $500 each to Albert T. and Warren Sanders, Neenah, grandchildren. This is to be held in trust for them until they are 25 years of age. Arthur Sanders was given $2,000; Roy Sanders, a son, $2,000; Frank Sanders, a son, $5,000. A bequest of $500 is made to Margaret Sanders, wife of Arthur Sanders. The sum of $10 each is left to Martha, a daughter-in-law; Reginald, a son and Dorothy and Gladys Sanders, daughters. The daughters, Alberta, Jessie and Nellie Sanders, each received 10 shares of stock in several banks in Alberta, Canada. The remainder of the estate, both real and personal, is divided equally between Alberta, Jessie and Nellie Sanders.

Menasha — Betty Weyenberg and Lucille Schwartz of Menasha high school won first and second places in declamatory at the leave forensic contest at Seymour Friday evening. Miss Weyenberg's selection was The New Immigrant and she won a unanimous decision. Miss Schwartz's selection was Buddy and Waffles.

A representative of Shoocon high school won first place in oratory and John Nowakowski won second place with a Sacrifice that Failed. Seymour failed to have representatives in extemporaneous readings and speaking, so Dorothy Stielow and Lucille Schwartz and John Anderson and Robert Schwartz will represent Menasha high school in the sub-district contest to be held on Friday, April 22, in Menasha high school.

FOUR WOMEN FACE DEATH SENTENCES IF FOUND GUILTY

Mrs. Bertha Heilman

Mrs. Ruth Snyder

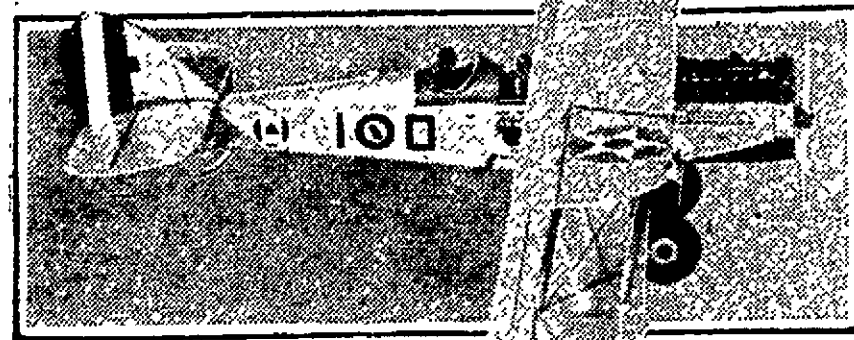

Alma Olson

Florence Stokes

Charged with murdering their husbands or their sweethearts these four women face possible death sentences if found guilty. Mrs. Snyder is charged with aiding her lover in the brutal murder of her husband while he slept in their New York apartment. Mrs. Heilman and Mrs. Alma Olson of Chicago are charged with murdering their husbands, and Miss Stokes, also of Chicago, with the murder of her sweetheart James J. Glennon.

These are the marines and this is one of the planes that will fly over China. The contingent, from San Diego, Calif., is (left to right) Lieutenant C. C. Jerome, Lieutenant W. J. Wallace, Major F. T. Evans, Lieutenant F. E. White and Gunnery Sergeant C. V. Frith. Lieutenant Wallace, also shown in inset, is one of the aces of the corps and had planned a non-stop flight from San Diego to Honolulu this spring, but the Chinese situation forced a cancellation of the attempt.

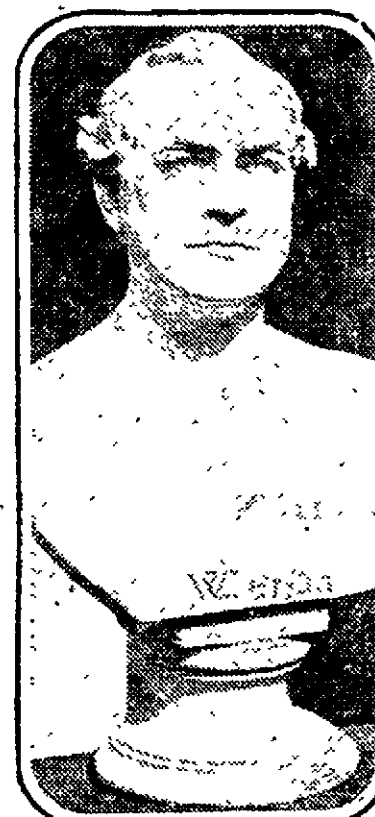

"What a bevy of 36-karat prettiness!" In the forthcoming Ponce de Leon pageant at St. Augustine, Fla., oldest city of these United States, they are to personify the eternal youth and beauty the Spanish explorer sought but never found in Florida's wilds. Pictured with Wilma Rogers (left) and Ruth Van Sant is Chauncey M. Depew, New York's pet octogenarian and founder and president of the St. Augustine Historical Society, under whose auspices the celebration is conducted. Mrs. Edith Powers (at the right) and Catherine Canova are former queens of the pageant, in which only girls of Spanish antecedents participate.

Grace Norwood's "crowning glory" is a train. And many's the barber whose mouth has watered and whose clippers have felt that shearing impulse as she passed by. Down in Thomaston, Ga., Grace's home-town folks contend that her indifference to the popular bob in no way impairs her beauty — which is obvious.

Here is the way Sally Rand of the movies keeps her beautiful figure. Each morning she goes through the most strenuous "daily dozen" of any one in the movie colony at Hollywood. The exercises are very highly recommended for dowagers.

Mrs. Vida Blake of Santa Monica, Calif., has a strange occupation for a woman — she teaches flying. At the field of the American Aircraft Corporation she is busily turning out classes of "air women." She is pictured here in her flying suit.

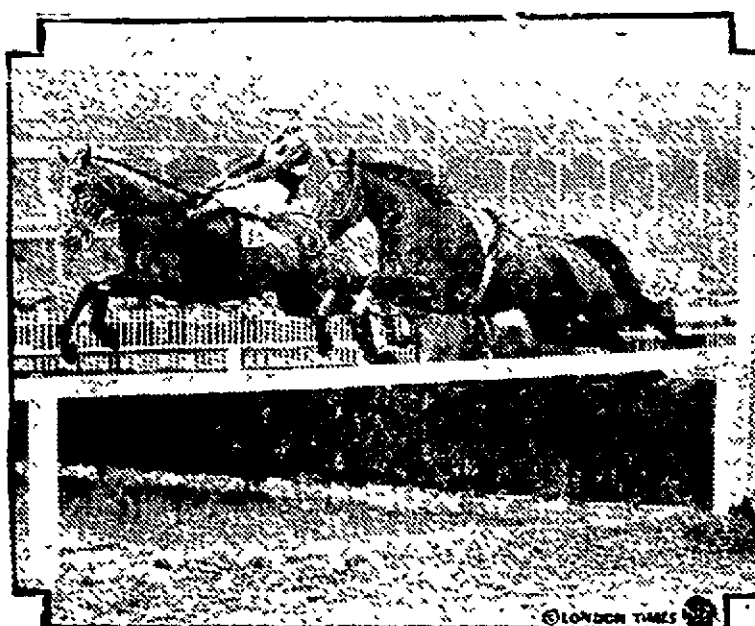

With construction just beginning on the Bryan Memorial University at Dayton, Tenn., where William Jennings Bryan died during the course of the famous Scopes evolution trial, this plaster bust of "the Commoner" has been presented to the school by Bryan's daughter, Mrs. Grace Bryan Hargreaves. It was made shortly after the 1896 campaign by Elizabeth Ney.

Remember Andrew J. ("Suede") Oberlander, all-American triple-threat of Dartmouth's invincible 1925 football eleven? His forthcoming marriage to Madeleine Chive, of Everett, Mass., will be the culmination for the materialization of a high school romance. In this photo of the happy couple the excellence of "Suede's" taste is obvious.

Christian X. King of Denmark, visiting Berlin, dropped in to swap a lie with little Willie Hohenzollern whose alias was once "the crown prince." Here they are — Willie, needless to say, at the right.

Just because he lost his jockey at a barrier didn't discourage the racing ambitions of this equine entrant in the Grand National, the famous English steeplechase, at Aintree, Liverpool. Right on over this water jump he went and the next and the next. Poor fellow, he didn't realize that mounts with phantom riders receive no consideration at the finish.

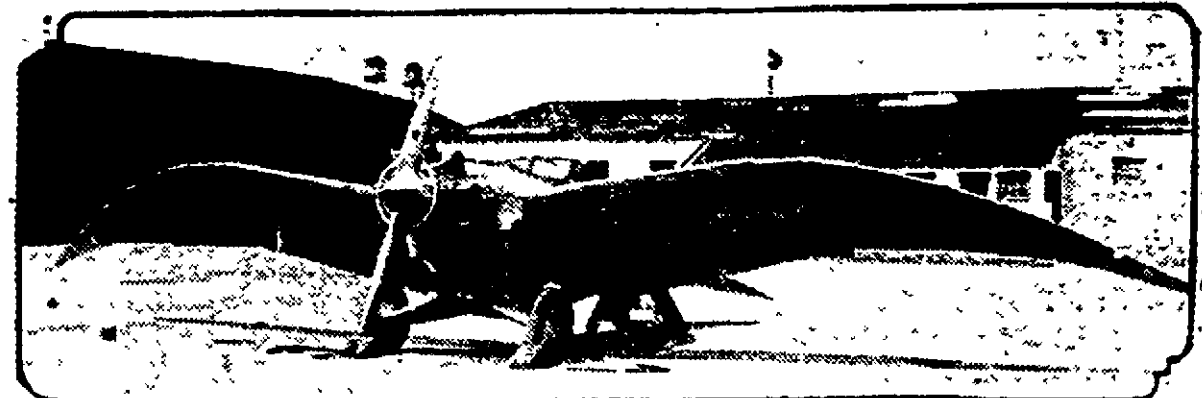

Countess Bebe Gatterberg, one of Hungary's most popular danseuses, reaches New York on the S. S. President Harding to grace an American photoplay. Easy on the sight is the jolly countess who already has many admirers here.

Here is a new picture of Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Hohenzollern, of Doorn, Holland, with Mrs. Hohenzollern's youngest daughter, Henriette and the Hohenzollern dog. The former kaiser's now one of the richest men in Europe, through a settlement with Prussia that went into effect the other day, granting Wilhelm $50,000,000 worth of royal properties and several million marks.

Before the victorious rush of the Cantonese forces, the armies of North China quickly melted away. Here is pictured the flight of a Chinese regiment along the road near Hanchow. A great hole where the road was shelled is shown in the center of the picture.

From a sea-aull, Leonard W. Bonney obtained inspiration for design of his airplane. If proved successful by forthcoming tests at Mitchel Field Long Island, he hopes that it will revolutionize airplane construction. By means of a hydraulic appliance, the angle of incidence of the wings may be changed at will. One advantage this affords is that by turning them to a vertical position as the plane touches the ground upon descending, it "can be stopped on a handkerchief."

MR. LOWDEN'S CANDIDACY

Former Governor Lowden of Illinois has cast his hat into the presidential ring. He has done it sensibly, in a manner which does not appear to be seeking the honor. Visited by a delegation of Iowa Republicans, whether by understanding or not is of no consequence, he told his callers in answer to their solicitations that under certain conditions he would consent to be a candidate for the presidency. His reply was that "if a sufficient number of agricultural states in the middle west demand it," he would consider it his duty to go after the Republican nomination next year. While it has the appearance of the office seeking the man, Mr. Lowden's reception of the committee is equivalent to telling it to go out and see what can be done. He therefore becomes an active candidate. If the movement grows to sufficient size to warrant it, he will permit his name to go before the national convention, which as we have said is a safe and sane way to handle the matter.

We do not know how much the central west wants Mr. Lowden for president. It has been assumed by some political diagnosticians that it wants him widely and badly. The much exploited agrarian revolt in the central west has been credited with concentrating its hopes for a Moses upon the ex-governor. If that revolt amounts to anything, the time is opportune to cash in on it.

Mr. Lowden was an able governor of Illinois. He gave that state one of the best administrations it ever had, but Mr. Lowden is a very wealthy man, affiliated by marriage with the Pullman company, and times have changed since he was in the political arena. How a capitalist of his rank will go with the progressives and extremists of the central west, to whom capitalism is anathema, is an open question. Of course all this has nothing to do with his fitness for the presidency, for that is acknowledged. We are referring to it merely because of peculiarities in our politics which necessitate taking it into account.

To be consistent and regular, the rebellious west ought to run some such man as Brookhart, who is a real dirt farmer, for president. Perhaps, however, the west is coming to realize that it takes brains rather than noise to serve agriculture. Brains Mr. Lowden has, and he is the ablest champion of the farmer yet to appear who is willing to engage in a political battle in their behalf. Although he is a "gentleman farmer," he understands farm problems in a large way. An advocate of the McNary-Haugen bill, Mr. Lowden nevertheless did not work himself into a fever of protest when it was defeated. On the contrary he has remained discreetly silent.

Mr. Lowden's candidacy will set the regular Republican organization and the Coolidge administration to thinking, if not to action. The east will not want Mr. Lowden. It is taken for granted it wants Coolidge another term. What Coolidge himself wants is yet to be revealed. Under cover, if not openly, the fight for nomination in 1928 is now on, with the assurance that the plans to renominate Mr. Coolidge are to have vigorous opposition. It appears that the opposition is to come from Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, and the Dominion of Wales.

REED INVESTIGATION CONTINUES

Vice-President Dawes has ruled that the Reed Senate committee investigating campaign expenditures did not lose its power with the adjournment of congress, and that it has the legal authority to proceed with its investigation of campaign slush funds and corruption. A resolution offered by Senator Reed formally extending the powers of the committee failed of passage due to the filibusters at the close of the session. This raised doubt as to the legality of the committee's standing after the final adjournment of the congress which had created it. Mr. Reed himself believed the committee had the right to function, but he wished to remove the possibility of doubt. A decision as to the committee's status was forced upon Vice President Dawes by the resignation of one of its members, Senator Goff of West Virginia. If the vice president elected to appoint a successor, he could only do so on the theory that the committee had a right to continue its activities. This he has done by the appointment of Senator Fess of Ohio to the vacancy.

The vice president's opinion is based directly upon the decision of the United States supreme court in the case of Mal S. Daugherty, brother of the former Attorney General Daugherty, in which there was affirmed the right of a senate committee to compel the appearance of witnesses even though the congress during which the committee was empowered had adjourned. It held that the language of the resolution creating the committee extended its powers beyond the congress which passed the resolution. The language of the resolution creating the Reed investigating committee was similar, and Mr. Dawes holds that the supreme court's decision is therefore "clearly applicable."

It's possible the Reed resolution would have been adopted by the senate had it been permitted to take its normal course. There was formidable opposition by Republican politicians, but the sentiment of the senate was favorable to a continuance of the investigation. Undoubtedly, the country is favorable too. That the committee had gotten to the bottom of the primary scandals of 1926 there is every reason to disbelieve. It had touched the high spots and uncovered considerable to astound the nation, but there are many details yet to be revealed that are of the utmost public concern. Directly preceding as it will the national convention of next year, the investigation will not be relished by the Republicans. However, it is their mess and if there is to be a funeral it should be held in their house. The persistence of the Reed committee in going after the facts is thoroughly commendable. The politics which may be involved in the investigation is inconsequential. It is the corruption of the electorate by enormous campaign funds that counts. About this the country should have all the facts. Something must be done to stop the purchase of public office, and before it can be done effectively the full truth about the prodigious use of money in the senatorial primaries must be laid bare.

OLD MASTERS

Wynken, Blynken and Nod one night
Sailed off in a wooden shoe—
Sailed into a river of crystal light
Into a sea of dew.
"Where are you going, and what do you wish?"
The old moon asked the three.
"We have come to fish for the herring fish
That live in this beautiful sea;
"Nods of silver and gold have we!"
Said Wynken,
Blynken
And Nod.
The old moon laughed and sang a song
As they rocked in the wooden shoe;
And the wind that sped them all night long
Ruffled the waves of dew.
The little stars were the herring fish
That lived in the beautiful sea—
"Now cast your nets wherever you wish—
"Nods of silver and gold have we!"
Said Wynken,
Blynken
And Nod.
So cried the stars to the fishermen three.
Wynken,
Blynken
And Nod.
—Eugene Field: From "Dutch Lullaby."

OUR MILLIONAIRES

A millionaire now doesn't mean much, with 297 of them in the United States according to a news dispatch. We didn't imagine that Mr. Voelstead had set up so many people in business. There's almost enough of them to chip in and buy a ticket for a heavyweight prize fight. . . . Too bad we can't all go to Weerah or write a book the libraries will put on the prescribed list. . . . Some of us still have to plug along with our half million and wait until May to eat strawberries. . . . Why we have almost enough millionaires to send a respectable delegation to Europe for a summer!

The busy bee is so busy because he is so dumb, a French scientist discloses. Dumb, but somehow he doth it.

Senator Hiram Johnson, after eight years' battle with presidentialism announces a complete cure. The Democrats haven't been able to find a thing to help them, though.

Fifty people are those continually signing on the dotted line.

Truth is the best policy, Coolidge told the advisers. At least a friend has told them!

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician And Author
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in card of this paper.

ANXIETY AND IMMUNITY

When we set out "On the Trail of Immunity" the other day we drew four scientific conclusions which you will find restated in your hat, as follows and to wit:
1.—Exposure to cold and wet has no demonstrable influence upon an individual's immunity to respiratory infections.
2.—The ultraviolet rays of sunlight seem to aid the development of immunity, especially immunity against infections of the upper respiratory tract.
3.—A liberal supply of Vitamin D (as in cod liver oil, the liver oils of fish generally and the body fat of marine animals such as the whale, seal and walrus which feed on fish or smaller marine animals) seems essential for the development of the optimum immunity against respiratory infections.
4.—There is little or no scientific evidence that the degree of immunity an individual has acquired can be seriously lowered by any temporary lack of hygiene or unhealthful environment, although unfavorable factors do prevent or delay the development of immunity.

These are strictly scientific conclusions, which I believe no one can successfully confute. And now want to base some sound health advice on these good and sound scientific facts. Unless you are prepared to overlook or disprove these deductions, you must admit that the information, suggestions and advice I have upon them are safe and true.

Today we'll confine our quarrel to conclusion No. 1.—Exposure to cold and wet has no demonstrable influence on immunity. Many investigators have attempted to demonstrate by animal experiments, and a few by experimenting upon themselves, that exposure to cold and wet really does "lower resistance," but without success. (I am not unmindful of the studies of Miller and Noble, Mudd and Grant, and other research workers.)

Circumstantial evidence (coincidence) and not empirical (experience) supports the notion that there is harm in exposure to cold or wet. Scientific evidence as well as common experience—the fact that as a rule no indisposition or illness follows exposure to cold or wet—must convince a reasonable man who facts rather than fancy guide him. One may find the cold or the wet uncomfortable, but one need feel no anxiety about it so far as health is concerned.

I read the other day about a dog which chased a rabbit or other prey into a cave and got trapped in the cave by a fall of rock behind him. The dog was trapped for a week or so, finally rescued, and given every care by veterinary physicians, but died of pneumonia notwithstanding. This was a fair newspaper version. Maybe the newspaper man divined the pneumonia. But assuming it is correct, the question arises, what caused the pneumonia, if not exposure to the sufferer in the cave? And I am ready with the answer, which is just as valid as the question. The dog, enfeebled by starvation and lack of water, developed hypostatic congestion of the lungs, a mechanical effect of failure of the circulation, and in no wise due to exposure or cold. This is the "pneumonia" which many feeble invalids develop as a terminal affection.

It is well known that deprivation, whether of food, clothing, water, shelter or other comfort, is more injurious than voluntary fasting, nakedness or other abstinence. Probably the difference is due to anxiety, worry fear, and this factor must be taken into consideration in every case of "exposure." This influence is readily seen in the comparison of the man who fasts three weeks knowing he can get food when he wants it and the shipwrecked sailor or the miner trapped by a cave-in who has no assurance of relief.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Polyps
Can you tell me whether polyps can be removed permanently? I had them removed six times but they are always growing back in. (R. A.)

Answer—As rule polyps are due to an underlying condition, such as sinus infection, and unless the underlying condition is remedied the polyp is likely to recur after removal.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Saturday, April 12, 1902
Miles Meidman, proprietor of the Rogers Greenhouse returned from Chicago where he had ordered materials for three new hothouses. Work on the new building was to begin in about two weeks. The three additions were to be under one roof and were to be unpartitioned. Mr. Meidman was to use the new greenhouses for the cultivation of roses and carnations.
Officers of the Arena society of Appleton high school were elected following a short program the previous night. They were: President, Robert Wolter; vice president, Laura Hayes; secretary, George Kranhold; treasurer, H. Griesel. The executive committee was composed of Loretta Hamacher, Clarence Zeile and William Rath.
Miss Mollie Heisler entertained a number of friends at cards the previous evening at her home on Alton-st, the occasion being her birthday anniversary.
A daughter was born the previous evening to Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Smith at their home on Meade-st.

TEN YEARS AGO

Saturday, April 7, 1917
The German liner, the "Cormorant" was blown up by its crew in the harbor of Guam. The navy department announced that day. The ship was destroyed by the Germans as the United States marines were about to seize the vessel. Two German warrant officers and five German enlisted men were killed. Twenty German officers, 12 warrant officers and 321 enlisted men were taken prisoners.

Eighteen recruits were enlisted by Captain L. O. Grant and his recruiting detail at the armory the previous night and afternoon. Seventeen more were enlisted the previous night and were measured for uniforms. The company is recruited by Captain L. O. Grant, Harry A. Herrmann, Charles M. Donnelly, Thomas P. Miller, Ray F. Manville, Edward J. Weinbauer, George L. Verway, Walter P. Melchior, Carl Van Dinter, Frank J. Denzel, William Hagemann, George Van Eperen, Thomas L. Gehrmann, Lloyd S. Day, George A. Janson, Martinus Vampala, Harry J. Smith, John S. Croell and Harry Hasegawa. These who enlisted in the hospital corps were Frank L. Kempfert and Ralph O. Schmitzke-witz. Of the 29 men named, 13 were of German descent. A total of 35 men had been enlisted by Company G since the previous Monday and nearly a dozen had been enlisted by the hospital section.

TELEPHONE STATISTICS
Washington, D. C. — The greatest American activity, aside from the functions of living, seems to be talking over the telephone. More than 70,000,000 telephone conversations are held in the United States every day, average being slightly in excess of four per telephone. How many uncompleted calls are made — those when the subscriber or caller gets the busy bee — is not a matter of record but it has been estimated that at least once in five times the mechanical buzzer or the dulcet voice of the operator, "The line is busy," is all that the subscriber gets out of a call.
Telephone statistics are at once interesting and bewildering. When the last authoritative compilation was made there were 26,032,508 telephones in use throughout the world, and of these 16,072,753, or about 63 per cent, were in the United States.
Europe with four times the population of this country had less than half as many telephones — 6,895,365, which constituted only 26 per cent of the world total. The remaining 12 per cent were scattered throughout all the other countries and continents outside of the United States and Europe. Next installations are made in this country at the rate of more than 2000 per day, so the present number of instruments is estimated at more than 17,500,000 while the world total must approximate close to 20,000,000.
The telephone is but 51 years old and most of its amazing growth has come in the last quarter of a century. In 1900 there were only about 855,000 telephones in the United States. By the end of 1905 this number had been increased to 2,530,000, and five years later it had more than doubled to 5,832,700. The 1915 total was 9,172,500, and by 1920 the figure stood at 12,601,900, while some 15,000,000 instruments have been added during the last six years.

COMPARED WITH AUTOMOBILES
The dominance of the United States in the telephone world may be likened to its leadership in the use of automobiles, this country owning and using approximately 81 per cent of all the motor vehicles in the world. The automotive industry is only about half as old as the telephone.

We have ten times as many telephones in proportion to population as the rest of the world, and we use what we have proportionately a great deal more with 191 telephone conversations per person for every man, woman and child in the country.

New York State alone has almost as many telephones as Germany, and more than the whole of any other foreign country. Per 100 of population we have roughly 15 phones: Canada has 11.5; Denmark, 9; New Zealand, 8.7; Sweden, 6.3; Norway, 6.1; Germany, 5.3; Great Britain and Northern Ireland, 2.8; and France, 1.7.

Russia is the most backward country in the use of the telephone, having but 150,000 instruments, or only 1 to every 500 of population. In all of South America there are but 275,000 telephones, in round number. In all of Asia there are but 302,000, including more than 550,000 in Japan. The total for Africa is about 155,000, and for Oceania rather more than 500,000.

Canada has considerably more than 1,000,000 phones; Mexico only 50,000.

all of Central America, 18,000; Cuba, 55,000; and Porto Rico, about 12,000. During the last year for which figures have been gathered more than a million and a half new phones were installed throughout the world.

All told there are about 70,000,000 miles of telephone wire in the world, and of this amount the United States has 46,500,000, or rather more than 61 per cent. Approximately 21,000,000 miles take care of the requirements of all Europe, while South America gets by with less than 1,000,000 miles, Asia, with 2,300,000, and Africa with 500,000. In this connection it may be noted that there are less than 7,000,000 miles of telephone wire in all the world, considerably less than 10 per cent of the phone wire mileage.

HOW CITIES RANK
San Francisco leads the world in the number of telephones per 100,000 of population with 29.5. Omaha ranks second with 23.5, Washington third with 25.3, Chicago fourth with 25, and Minneapolis fifth with 24.9.

Outside the United States, one Swedish and three Canadian cities lead. Stockholm with 24.8 per 100 of population, Toronto with 23.2, Ottawa, with 18.2, and Montreal with 15.5.

For the total of the eight cities of the United States with more than 1,000,000 population, the average is 20.5 per 100; for the 9 cities with 500,000 to 1,000,000 the average is 18.2; for the 30 cities of 200,000 to 500,000, 13.8; and for the 47 cities of more than 100,000, 13.7.

Communities of less than 100,000 population in the United States are served by 11.6 telephones per 100 of population, a record that is equaled in no other country. In Canada these small communities have 9.3 telephones per 100 of population, in Denmark 7.1, and in New Zealand 8.8.

The larger European countries are far behind in this respect with farmers' telephone lines, almost unknown. There are only 2.4 telephones per 100 of population in the small communities of Germany, 1.7 in Great Britain and Northern Ireland, and 1.0 in France.

British and French telephones development is significant, in fact, only in the larger cities. In each case more than one-third of the country's telephones are found in its capital city. London having 432,302, or 5.9 per 100 of population, while Paris has 226,552, or 7.6 per 100.

Stockholm is practically the only foreign city that has attained a telephone development comparable with that of the leading cities of the United States. Its ratio per 100 of population being 24.8.

In the use of the telephone, in comparison with the 70,000,000 conversations per day in the United States, which averages 191 per year per inhabitant, Denmark has an average of 131 per person per year, Norway 113 and Sweden 106. Germans use the telephone only to the extent of 30 conversations per person for each twelve-month period, while the British maintain their record for tactfulness by averaging only 23, which is less than one-eighth the average for this country.

Naples is the major city of the world that has the fewest number of telephones in proportion to its population. Shanghai is next to the bottom

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York—See-sawing up and down Manhattan Isle, I came upon Will Hays attending the Annual show of the Dutch Treat Club, that club of authors, editors, artists and such which seems to include all the names that are fit to print. . . . And unless my old eyes deceived me, it seemed that the cinema chieftain, was laughing most heartily at lines which could never have found their way to the film sub-titles. . . .
And there was Irvin Cobb with his usual clear dripping from his lips. . . .
And at my table was William Slavyn McNutt, who writes books and things, but who's was regaling all and sundry with accounts of the beauty of his new bride. . . . And there was Gilbert Patten, who as inventor of Frank Merriwell I have long envied since, whenever he goes doctors, lawyers, merchants and chiefs, policemen, bandits, banks and news butchers fall maddeningly upon his neck to relate what Frank had done for their loyalties. . . . Saw Charles Norris, who seemed to have another novel coming over him. . . . He can afford to take his time, having done rather well with "Bread" and those others. . . .
Chinese wagon vendor selling Easter palms. . . . Violet vendors plying their trade in the murky dark of subway tunnels. . . . Still walking sandwich man perched for a test atop a bit of hot iron. . . . These new sliced down derbies. . . . And most of them from out of town. . . .
New Yorkers cling to crush felt hats. . . . The more daring even wearing them with evening clothes. . . . Russian nobleman driving a taxi cab and another one entering it with a society debutante. . . . It's all the way you "arrive" in this man's town.

Fashionably dressed woman on Fifth avenue stooping to pick up penny. . . . As she does a diamond bracelet slides over her wrist. . . . Backyard gardeners hauling black earth to their little six by eight yards behind apartment houses. . . . And those little backyard Village cafes getting a fresh coat of paint. . . . Summer must be coming. . . . Recruiting officers behind public libraries talking it over with derelicts. . . . "You might even get to China," says one man. . . . "Hell, I just came from there," says the other.

Ralph Merriam in town from Detroit. . . . And if his name doesn't call to mind a celebrity. . . . Well, he isn't. . . . But, many years ago back in Port Huron, where the Grand Trunk Railway comes from, he once helped save the author of "The Gang across Black River." . . . And if you ever want that "grand and glorious feeling" just sink yourself in Manhattan for a number of years and then let a kid from the home town breeze in to tell you what happened to all these faraway people of your short pants days. . . .

Q. How can glue be made watery-proof? H. G.

A. In order to render glue insoluble in water, even hot water, it is only necessary, when dissolving the glue for use, to add a little potassium iodate to the water and to expose the blued part to the light. The proportion of potassium bichromate will vary with circumstances, but for most purposes, about 1-50 of the amount of glue used will suffice.

Q. On what income do Americans have to pay a tax in England? E. M. S.

A. The Income Tax Law of Great Britain provides for no deduction or abatement to non-resident aliens. Americans whether resident or not are taxed on incomes derived from property in the United Kingdom, whether from any trade, profession, employment, or vocation exercised there. If resident for six months, the tax is payable on all income received there and no allowance is made for American tax paid.

Q. How many miles of coast line have the Great Lakes in the United States? In Canada? M. B.

A. Lake Superior has a shore line in the United States of 1193 miles; in Canada, 910 miles; Lake Michigan, entirely within the United States, shore line 1364 miles; Lake Huron, within the United States, 581 miles; in Canada, 1445 miles; Lake Erie, United States, 404 miles; Canada, 327 miles; Lake Ontario, United States, 303 miles; Canada, 455 miles.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

A WELL-LOVED "BUG"

BY ARTHUR N. PACK
President, American Nature Ass'n.
Who has not, when a child, caught a lightning bug and wondered why it did not burn and how it was that it made its light and where it carried its lantern. Now comes the scientist to explain all the mystery of this little beetle, and to take away, perchance, some of the glory from this childhood favorite.

At Sea

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE GARRETT FOLSON is stabbed to death while swimming at Ocean Town, N. J. Folsom's bathing companions had been ROGER NEVILLE, a business partner; MRS. HELEN BARNARD; and CARMELITA VALDON.

ANASTASIA FOLSON, eccentric and masterful sister of the dead man, arrives and takes command. At the inquest it is learned that the death weapon was a pichag, an Oriental knife, and it has been bought on the board-walk.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XL

"Has any one meddled with these things since you saw them last?" Stone said in a most matter-of-fact tone.

"No," said Pelton, looking up in surprise, but turning red. "Who would do so, and why?"

"I don't know, I'm sure," and Stone turned it off lightly. "Was that suitcase locked?"

"It should have been," and Pelton examined the catch. "But it wasn't. It seems to be a little out of order."

"How about that man of yours?" Stone said, suddenly.

"Ross? He wouldn't touch it, I'm sure."

"Call him in, please," Stone said. A moment later the imperious valet stood before them.

"Just a few questions, my man," Stone said affably, and thought Ross looked a little startled, he stood quietly at attention, ready to reply.

"I know you've been through this a dozen times," Stone said pleasantly, "but once again, please. Where were you when your master, Mr. Folsom, was killed?"

"Here in this room, sir," said Ross, his lips twitching a little with emotion, but otherwise calm.

"Waiting for his return, I'm told," "Yes, sir."

"Where were you sitting?"

"I wasn't sitting, sir. I stood at the window looking down at the crowds and yet listening for Mr. Folsom's step in the hall."

"I see. You didn't see the commotion attendant on the bringing of Mr. Folsom's body from the water?"

"No, sir. It is not visible from these windows. Or if it is, I didn't see it. If I had I should have rushed out there, sir."

"Of course, yes. Now, Ross, you have another good master in Mr. Pelton?"

"Yes, sir."

"And he is confidential with you, as Mr. Folsom was?"

"Yes, sir." The man looked at his interlocutor with a mild wonder, as if not understanding the drift, but paying attention to the words.

"When he leaves the room, he doesn't lock up things from you?"

"It is not necessary, sir," and Ross' attitude was that of Caesar's wife at her best.

"No. I'm sure of that. Well, then, this evening, while Mr. Pelton was out, who could have come in here and meddled with his belongings?"

"I don't know, sir, I'm sure," and even undue interest.

"Yet somebody did so."

"I know nothing of it, sir."

"Nor I," exclaimed Dan Pelton, unable to keep still longer. "What are you driving at, Mr. Stone? Who said any one came in here and rummaged my things?"

"You said it yourself, though not in so many words," replied Stone, calmly. "Is it not the truth?"

"Truth? That somebody rummaged

—nonsense! Of course it is not the truth."

"And you don't care to admit it, nor tell me the intruder was?" Stone went on, quite as if Pelton had said to his queries instead of no.

"Of course I don't! That is—" Pelton stumbled in his speech—"of course, nobody came in."

"You may go, Ross," Stone said to the man, "and as you go, send me the chambermaid."

These orders were obeyed, and in a short time Myrtle arrived.

She came in, plunging herself as with a sense of her own importance, but when she saw the crestfallen look and down-hearted appearance of Dan Pelton, she, too, began to look frightened.

This sequence of events was not lost upon Stone, who said, rather curtly:

"You are the maid of these rooms?"

"Yes, sir," said Myrtle, her air of bravado melting before that direct eye.

"You have been in here this evening?"

"I always come sir, to turn down the bed, and bring fresh towels."

"I know that. At what time did you come for that purpose?"

"I dunno. 'Bout eight, I guess."

"And at what time did you come later? Come to let someone else in? Because you were well paid for it?"

At each sentence Stone looked a little more menacing, and spoke in a little sterner tone. At the climax, his voice, though not loud, was of a cold, deadly infection and scared Myrtle nearly out of her wits, as was the detective's amiable intention.

She began to cry and Stone said, shortly:

"Cry all you like, my girl, but before you begin, tell me who it was you let into this room. Quick now, out with it!"

"Mrs. Valdon," said Myrtle, impelled by the inexorable voice, and then she ran from the room.

"And so," Stone said, as the door closed, none too gently, after Myrtle, "and so, Mr. Pelton, your desire to shield Mrs. Valdon is so great that you clog the wheels of justice in order to gratify it."

"That's about how it stands," and Dan Pelton looked embarrassed, but far from penitent.

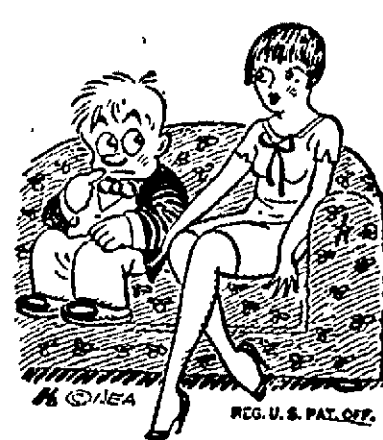

Miss Anastasia sighed.

"That's Dan all over!" she said. "He'd always do anything to save a woman from annoyance."

"But he hasn't saved her," and Stone looked indignant. "In fact, he has probably made more trouble for her than if he had been frank in the first place."

"What do you mean by that?" and Dan Pelton's voice held a great fear.

YOUTHS FOUND GUILTY OF DISORDERLY CONDUCT

Arthur LaFond, 621 N. Superior-st. and William Winklem, 321 N. Appleton-st., Friday morning were found guilty by Judge Theodore Berg of disorderly conduct and were fined $10 and costs or sentenced to six days in the county jail.

They were arrested early last Sunday morning at LaFond's home with a third youth and two young girls, and pleaded not guilty when arraigned Monday morning. The other man in the party, Louis Van Weddington, 522 N. Elmhurst, appeared in court again Tuesday morning and pleaded guilty. He was fined $10 and costs, and paid.

disappeared from the suitcase without Mr. Pelton's knowledge, for it was easily seen that he was relieved when he opened the case to find that the papers were not there. He spoke of some letters of his own but that was scarcely plausible.

"Then it was that woman, after all," and Anastasia Folsom's voice rang out in triumph. "I knew you'd find out, Mr. Stone. And I knew it was a woman who killed Garry! She looks the adventuress. You can see it sticking out all over her—"

"Oh, hush, Aunt Stasia! Don't be ridiculous—" began Pelton but Tito Riggs interrupted.

WILLYS KNIGHT

After 43,000 miles "SMOOTH AS EVER"

"After driving my Willys-Knight 43,000 miles, the motor ran as smoothly as when I bought it." From one of many enthusiastic owners.

The Willys-Knight engine is the only type of engine that improves with use—constantly gaining in smoothness, power, economy.

In addition, the Willys-Knight offers these important advantages:

Buffer shocks for chassis silence. Positive, mechanical 4-wheel brakes. Skinner oil recycler prevents crankcase dilution. 7-bearing crankshaft. Narrow front posts for greater vision. Light control of steering wheel. Adjustable front seat. 8 Trunion bearings in front axle. New-type air cleaner. Thermometric temperature control of cooling system.

Smother, quieter, more powerful—the engine improves with use.

Willys-Knight Engines gain in efficiency—smooth, quiet, more power.

TOO MANY "SHALT NOTS" THESE DAYS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

A N official nurse in the New York Police Department speaks with conviction when she says that girls get tired of home because they are bored with too much managing.

"They get tired of being told exactly what they must do and what they must not do, and in order to escape it and think for themselves, they run away," she says.

I suppose we call that girl delinquent or incorrigible or something like that. Usually we refer to her as ungrateful, I believe.

It isn't always girls. It's boys, too. Something has gone wrong. For some reason they have lost all respect for parental authority, and when that happens the father usually in the fit, and son John is off.

Booth Tarkington is talking a good deal of freedom in marriage. His theory goes something like this:

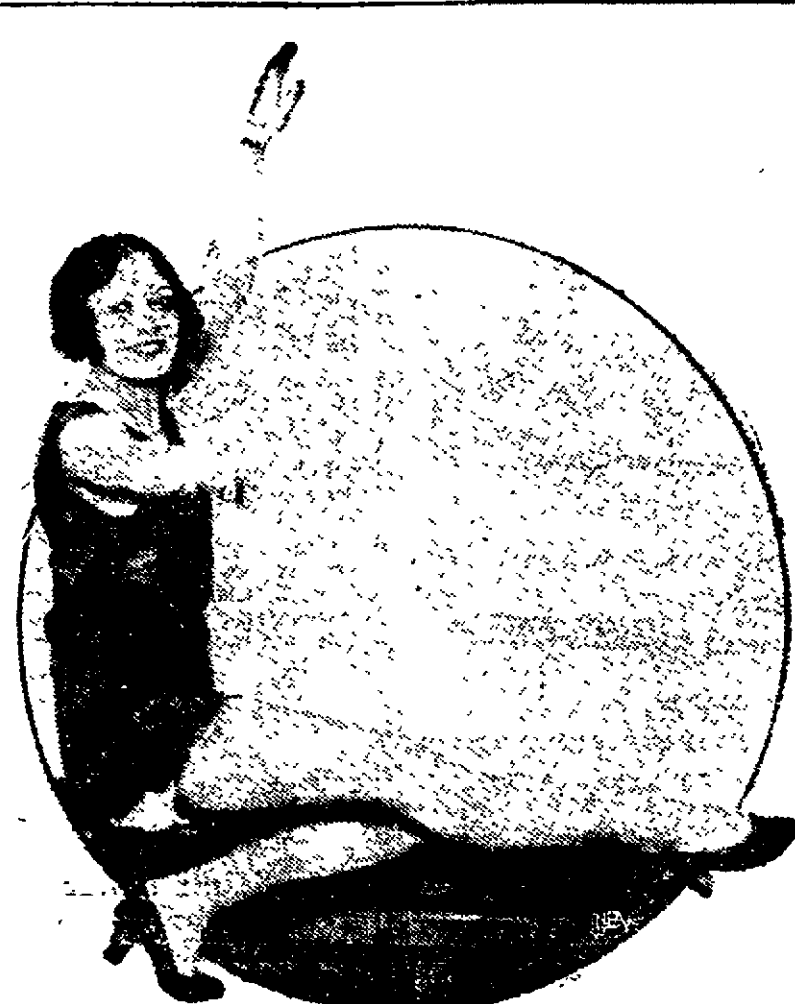

A husband or wife, chafing under strict discipline of marriage vows, breaks away altogether and gets a divorce. If there were fewer shalts and shalt nots to abide by, and each of the contrasting persons were willing to tie an extra piece of string to the tie that binds, no one would want a divorce.

Truly, people who know all there is to know to date about bringing up little children will tell you they will do better without too many laws to obey. Oh, yes, they must obey certain right and necessary rules, but don't make copy cats out of them by saying do this and don't do that all day long. A child will be full of terrible things if you do. And don't keep punishing and scolding him for things that don't matter.

Here we have the whole family and the same advice for everyone. What does it amount to, this freedom?

There are different kinds of freedom. One kind means license. The word would not go very far on that. But there is a bigger and better freedom—the kind that permits growth and happiness. It has a nice sound it is called tolerance.

GRACE IS BALANCE--BOTH ARE ESSENTIAL ELEMENTS OF BEAUTY

POSED FOR NEA BY MARIE OTTO, OF THE "OH, KAY" COMPANY.

BY NIXON

GRACE and balance really should rhyme. For they necessarily must go together. I have never seen a graceful woman yet who did not show perfect balance in her carriage, the way she stands, sits and walks.

THE FIRST STEP

The first step in achieving grace is to learn to balance the body first on one foot, then the other. I show an excellent exercise for teaching balance in today's illustration.

Stand erect, then slowly stretch one leg straight out in front, sinking down slowly on the other until you are leaning on one foot. Your arms will help you to balance. You will feel all the muscles through your waistline and in the calves and thighs tightening to help you. This exercise stretches them all.

STRETCH IT STRAIGHT

Sink down on your left leg, with your right stretched out in front. Then raise up without losing balance and sink down again. Begin by doing this slowly, twice. Then change legs and repeat. By the end of a week you should be able to sink and raise yourself without having to grab hold of anything for at least eight times.

Thus may seem hard at first. But just remember what I have so often said, "Your muscles really like to work. Give them a chance."

SAINT AND SINNER

By Anne Austin

Stephen Churchill began his cross-examination of Dr. Paxton with great deference.

"You are a medical expert. I believe, Dr. Paxton. You would not be willing to swear. I presume, to the exact minute that Mr. Cluny's death occurred?"

Everyone in the courtroom knew, from newspaper accounts of the coroner's inquest, that four minutes had elapsed between Cherry's leaving the ground of the Cluny mansion and Bob's arrival.

"No, I could not swear to the exact minute," Dr. Paxton coughed deprecatingly. "I can only fix the time approximately."

"You would not swear then that death could not have taken place between nineteen minutes or eighteen minutes of nine and fifteen minutes of nine?"

"No," Dr. Paxton answered, as if a little uncertain of just what Churchill meant. "That is, death could have taken place between those specified times, but not more than two or three minutes before or after that time."

"Now, Dr. Paxton, that is a heavy case, is it not? Will you lift it high in your hands, please?"

The doctor did as requested, holding the case gingerly by its flared base.

"What would you say that your weight, doctor?" Churchill asked suavely.

"Why, I don't know. Between four and five pounds, I suppose. I am not an expert at guessing weights," he smiled.

"Approximately four or five pounds," Churchill repeated impressively. "Now, doctor, you must be fairly expert in judging a woman's strength, aren't you? A woman of a certain age and size and physical training, I mean."

"Now," Dr. Paxton, in your opinion, Churchill went on triumphantly, "could a girl of eighteen, weighing ninety-five pounds, with no special athletic training, deal a blow with an instrument weighing four or five pounds, holding the instrument aloft as to strike a man more than twelve inches taller than she?"

"I object! I object!" Banning was roaring shrilly.

After much heated exchange of argument and angry personalities between himself and Banning, Churchill conceded the point and withdrew the question, but it might as well have been answered, for every jurymen in the box, every reporter at the press tables, every spectator in the audience, had had time to form a mental picture of diminutive Cherry wielding the long heavy case, standing on tip-toe and stretching her tiny hands upward so as to be able to reach the head of her six-foot fiance.

"That is all, Dr. Paxton," Churchill dismissed him almost exultantly. Banning seized upon the witness again.

"Dr. Paxton, as a medical man, can you tell this jury if it is not true that anger increases one's normal strength to a great degree, a degree which is measurable by science?"

"I object, on the same grounds on which your honorable district attorney objected to my questioning the learned doctor," Churchill bellowed with dramatic anger.

"Objection sustained," Judge Grimshaw ruled in a bored voice.

As Dr. Paxton left the witness stand, the court clerk chanted the name of Mary Kearney, maid in the Cluny home, and the only servant in the house at the time of the murder.

"Now, Mary," Banning began very pleasantly, coaxingly, after the preliminary questions had been disposed of, "I want you to tell in your own words what happened at the Cluny home from eight o'clock on up to evening of Thanksgiving Day, November 25 last."

Two Important Things for You—Your Bank Balance and Your Health.

Stratford, Wis.—"For about three years my health was so poor that I was not able to do my housework. I doctored but did not get relief. I suffered with chronic nasal catarrh, and with the approach of cold weather I grew worse. It was very difficult for me to breathe through my nose and I could scarcely smell at all. I was all rundown and could not regain my strength until I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. 'Favorite Prescription' and the little 'Pellets.' I also used four packages of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and now I can breathe and smell as well as any one. I recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines to all sufferers."

"Also my son had bronchitis for several years—he was weak all the time. But by the time he had used five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery he was relieved. May God spare Dr. Pierce for many years to carry on his good work."—Mrs. Rosa Shottbauer, Box 51.

Love Letters Of The Great

AS COMPILED BY DIANA RICE

LAURENCE STERNE—1713-1768

"I myself must ever have some Diogenes in my heart," he harmonizes the soul," said this master of humorous prose. And the philanthropic Sterne seems to have "harmonized" his soul pretty well over the whole of Europe. For twenty uneventful years, he lived the quiet life of a country vicar at Sutton-in-the-Forest, near York Cathedral, and it is probable had Sterne remained at this post that the world would have lost a genius. His later journeys through France and England resulted in several books of wit and sentiment—sentiment of a cruder sort than would have been expected of a clergyman. "Tristram Shandy" caused a sensation when published and is perhaps better known than "The Sentimental Journey," a record of his travels no less than of his love affairs.

Laurence Sterne to Eliza Draper

My dear Eliza—I have been within the verge of the gates of death. I was ill the last time I wrote you, and apprehensive of what would be the consequence. My fears were but too well founded. For, in ten minutes after I dispatched my letter, this poor, shrunken frame of Yorick's gave way, and I broke a vessel in my breast and could not step the loss of blood till four this morning. I have filled all the India handkerchiefs with it. It came, I think, from my heart. I fell asleep through weakness. At six I woke with the bosom of my shirt steeped in tears. I dreamt I was sitting under the canopy of Indolence, and that thou camest into the room with a shawl in thy hand, and told me my spirit had blown to thee in the Downs, with tidings of my fate; and that you were come to administer what consolation filial affection could bestow, and to receive my parting breath and blessing. With that you folded the shawl about my waist, and kneeling, supplicated my attention. I awoke, but in what a frame! O my God! "But thou wilt number my tears, and put them all into thy bottle." Dear girl! I see thee; thou art forever present to my fancy—embracing my feeble knees and raising thy fine eyes to bid me be of comfort; and when I talk to Lydia the words of Esau, as uttered by the perpetually ringing in my ears: "Bless me even also, my father!" Blessing attend thee, thou child of my heart!

My bleeding is quite stopped, and I feel the principle of life strong within me; so be not alarmed, Eliza: I know I shall do well. I have eat my breakfast with hunger; and I write to thee with a pleasure arising from that prophetic impression in my imagination, that "all will terminate to our best content." Comfort thyself eternally with this persuasion—"That the best of beings (as thou hast sweetly expressed it) could not, by a combination of accidents, produce such a chain of events merely to be the source of misery to the leading person engaged in them." The observation was very applicable, very good and very elegantly expressed. I wish my memory did justice to the wording of it. They taught you the art of writing so sweetly, Eliza! You have absolutely exalted it to a science.

Laurence Sterne to Kitty Tourman-telle

My dear Kitty—I have sent you a net of sweetmeats and a pet of honey, neither of them half so sweet as yourself; but don't be vain upon this, or presume to grow sour upon this character of sweetness I give you; for if you do I shall send you a pet of pickles by way of contraries to sweeten you up and bring you to yourself again. Whatever changes happen to you, believe me I am unalterably yours, and according to your motto, such a one, my dear Kitty.

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY. THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

S O Mary journeyed on her way, and left her little lamb to play with all the happy Tynymites out on the school house lawn. The lamb just didn't think things right, as Mary disappeared from sight, but soon it started in to play, as long as she was gone.

The Tynmites raced around the place and Mary's lamb joined in the race. It seemed to thoroughly enjoy just wildly running loose. They hugged and patted it a lot until it knew, as like as not, that they were very kind and thus would give it no abuse.

In about three hours they heard a bell. The lamb ran to the school, peeped in. It knew that Mary'd soon be out, and my, but it was glad. When Mary came, the lamb was gay. It seemed as if it would like to say enough to tell fair Mary what a dandy time it had.

Said Mary, "Thanks for helping me."

It's really hard as it can be when'er I take my lamb to school. It makes the teacher mad. "You're welcome to what we have done," said Scouty. "It was really fun," then Mary said, "I must go home." The Tynmites thought said.

Then, down the road she disappeared and once again the bunch was cheered by hearing sounds of barking dogs just over a nearby hill. "Let's find them. We can have some fun," said Clowzy. "Aw, come on, let's run." And, as he started off, he tripped and quickly took a spill.

Soon, when they found the barking bunch, were Coppy said, "I have a hunch. Tell me dogs will all ways bark when beggars come to town. Let's pat the dogs and treat them kind and very shortly we will find that they'll forget the beggars and will quickly quiet down."

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BREAKFAST—Baked rhubarb, cereal cream, crisp broiled bacon, cornmeal waffles, maple syrup, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Baked cheese custard, coconut and fruit salad, whole wheat bread, ginger bread, milk, tea.

DINNER—Tomato bouillon, rolled hash of veal, Martineque potatoes, braised celery, egg and spinach salad, apple whip, butter-cream cookies, Graham rolls, milk, coffee.

Coconut fruit salad is ideal for this time of year when strawberries are not generally plentiful. Fresh or canned coconut can be used as preferred or convenient, and fresh or canned pineapple.

COCONUT AND FRUIT SALAD

One cup sliced strawberries, 1/2 cup shredded pineapple, 1/2 cup shredded coconut, 4 tablespoons minced celery, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 4 tablespoons orange juice, 4 tablespoons oil, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, head lettuce, currant or raspberry jelly.

Combine berries, pineapple, coconut and celery and sprinkle with lemon juice. Cover and chill for one hour. Chill orange juice an oil and then shake until thoroughly emulsified. Season with salt and paprika and pour over salad mixture. Serve on crisp and chilled leaves of head lettuce and dot with cubes of bright red jelly. (Copyright 1927, NEA Service, Inc.)

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

The pointer for today is: In some hands Dummy should play an unnecessary high card on the first trick in order to obtain the lead. As an illustration of this pointer, take the following deal:

With South playing a No-Trump contract, the Five of Clubs would be West's original lead. The Declarer, using the Rule of Eleven and subtracting five from eleven would know that there are just six Clubs higher than the card led, not in the hand of the leader; and as all of them are in Closed Hand and Dummy, East cannot hold any Club higher than the home. Regular business will be discussed.

CLUB MEETINGS

The Catholic Students club of Lawrence college will hold a meeting Sunday evening at Catholic home. Supper will be served and a program has been arranged for the evening.

MAYOR WILL CALL
2 BOARD MEETINGS

Planning Commission to Survey Wisconsin-ave In Regard to Business District

At least two committee meetings will be called by Mayor Albert C. Hule next week to dispose of work which has piled up on the city clerk's desk within the last two weeks.

The board of public works probably will meet at 2 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon to assess benefits and damages on pavements and sewers. Complaints about the condition of several pavements, and particularly the curbing in several places on N. Lawest, will be investigated. An inspection of the improvement work being undertaken at the swimming pool near the water plant also will be made.

The proposal of placing Wisconsin-ave, or at least part of it, in the commercial and light manufacturing district, will be gone into by the planning commission.

A number of other routine matters also must be considered in order that recommendations on them may be prepared for the council at its last meeting on Tuesday evening, April 12. This will be an adjourned meeting.

$500 REWARD OFFERED
FOR SHEBOYGAN THUGS

A reward of $500 is offered for information leading to the arrest of the two bandits who held up the soft drink parlor operated by Otto Kohls at Sheboygan at 12:15 on the morning of March 19, and shot and killed Olaf Jonassen, according to word received at the sheriff's and police department. A description of the fugitives has been forwarded by Walter H. Wagner, chief of police.

One is between 25 and 28 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall, and from 135 to 140 in weight. He is slightly cross-eyed, has a dark complexion, and resembles an Italian. When he held up the saloon he was wearing a dark blue suit, gray hat, and was fairly well dressed. He carried two automatic pistols, .32 calibre.

His companion is between 22 and 27, 5 feet 7 inches tall, and from 135 to 140 in weight. He is extremely thin, and has a light or sandy complexion. He wore a powder blue or dark gray overcoat, and a gray cap, and carried a nickel plated pistol .32 calibre.

TWO C. C. COMMITTEES
MEET EARLY NEXT WEEK

Two committees of the chamber of commerce will hold meetings Monday and Tuesday, according to Hugh G. Corbett, secretary. The publicity committee will meet at 4:30 Monday afternoon for a routine business session and the roads committee will meet Tuesday noon.

O. C. Rollman, Green Bay, divisional engineer of the state highway commission, will meet with the road committee to discuss projects in which the local chamber is interested. J. J. Plank is chairman of the committee.

LIONS DEFER MEETING

Kaukauna-C. O. F. No. 450 of Little Chute lost an opportunity of going into first place in the Forester tournament when the team went to pieces in its final game Friday evening after rolling two previous 915 and 938. The village team was only able to get 570 pins in the last game for a 2683 total and fifth place. G. Vandenberg led his team mates with 608 for the three games. This was the only change made during the night. A group of Little Chute people accompanied the village teams to the tournament.

The Coll's of Sixties, a team composed of men from Little Chute whose ages averaged sixty years, rolled 1218 for the low score of the evening. The Outside Sentinels, also of Little Chute, crashed the maples for a 2437 count.

Teams from Sheboygan, Fond du Lac and Two Rivers will occupy the drives on the two final days of the tournament, Friday and Saturday.

COPEL PROTESTS AGAINST ACCEPTING WISCONSIN BRIDGE

Former Mayor Points to Defects and Urges More Consideration

Kaukauna-The common council's suggestion that persons who have objections to accepting the recently completed Wisconsin-ave bridge present their complaints in writing brought with a hot protest from John Coppes, former mayor, which was read at an adjourned meeting of the council Friday evening. Mr. Coppes, protested against accepting the final report of engineers, pointed out a number of alleged defects in construction and aimed the council against action which might result in waiving claims against the contractors.

The complaint is in four parts. The first referred to the pavement on the bridge which, it is alleged is crumbling, cracked and the stability is impaired. The second part objects to that part of the engineer's report which says "the city reached no final decision concerning the embankment construction on the bridge until after October 1, 1925." Objection is made to the city council taking action that might result in waiving the city's claim against the contractor for agreed liquidated damages or waiving the city's claim against the contractor for the expense caused for additional engineering supervision and inspection after the contract date for the completion of the contract. Mr. Coppes "strenuously objects" to the city accepting the engineer's so-called final report which if accepted would act as a final acceptance of the bridge contract. Mr. Coppes said $1,850 of additional engineering expense was caused the city. He believes this money should be returned by the contractors.

Alderman W. H. Cooper, president of the council presided in the absence of Mayor W. C. Sullivan who is in Milwaukee on business. Alderman Cooper did not want the council to reach a decision until after the mayor returned. The matter will be brought up at a special meeting of the public buildings and grounds committee Monday night. The council told J. Kinnzella, engineer for Warden-Alton Co. that it would call him from Milwaukee in the near future and have him attend the committee meeting.

The three banks bid 1 1/2 per cent interest on city's funds deposited in their respective institutions. This matter was laid over to the next meeting to be held Tuesday evening.

A license was granted the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co. to operate four busses in and through Kaukauna.

O. W. Knox's claim for damages against the city amounting to $87.55 for colliding against the Lave-st bridge gates because of an alleged negligent act on the part of the bridge tender was allowed.

Petitions for are lights to be installed at the corner of Elmer-st and Island-st and the corner of Oviatt-st and Tobacco-st were referred to the utility committee.

Action on the bids to furnish a coupe for the city nurse was laid over until the next meeting. The bids were: Kaukauna Motor Car Co., Chrysler, $881; William Van Lieshout, Ford, $848; Hennes Auto Co., Essex, $836; Caspar Toegun, Star, $774; and Kaukauna Auto Co., Dodge, $1,039.

Some of the bids included a discount for the present Ford coupe used by the nurse.

President Cooper appointed F. A. Kern, William Doering and W. H. Copp on the auditing committee. The report of the committee must be in the hands of the council before May 1.

The new council will be installed at the meeting on April 19.

Dr. W. N. Nolan, city health officer, offered his resignation to the city council, and it was accepted. The resignation becomes effective May 15 Dr. Nolan did not divulge his reason for resigning.

"AFRAID TO LOVE"
NOW AT FISCHERS
Proving humorously but convincingly that when a girl decides to marry, a man he might as well come to a similar decision, "Afraid to Love" the new Paramount production starring Florence Vidor with Clive Brook as leading man opened last night at Fischers Appleton theatre.

Miss Vidor, famed beauty is placed carefully in the background through exigencies of the plot and unwrapped to his covering of made-up ugliness to blossom forth as an unsuspected rose in the hitherto unlovely desert of a singular honeymoon to Paris.

As Sir Reginald Belzoni, Clive Brook convincing her that the cultured English gentleman whose plans for marital bliss are upset by an old uncle who wills him an enormous fortune on condition that he marry any woman at all except the one he wants. The girl uncle disapproves of his Helen de Senlague, (Joelynn Lee) who is carrying on an intrigue before Sir Reginald's eyes with a gigolo.

As Katharine Silverton, whom Sir Reginald marries to fulfill the terms of the will and collect the fortune, Miss Vidor appears first as a dowdy old maid with thick glasses and a bad disposition. She is later changed to a wife for Clive by Joelynn who has agreed to the marriage only as a measure of collecting the legacy, and who insists on an immediate divorce as soon as the money is handed over to Clive. But alas for all well-laid plans, Florence's unassuming company, her beauty and Clive's clever solution to his difficulty prove only to have jumbled matters the more.

Comic situations pile upon one another breathlessly. The plot unravels in a series of surprises. Miss Vidor displays an intelligent brand of acting that shows her well on the way to the brilliant cinema future prophesied for her by the critics with her first Paramount starring vehicle, "You Never Know Women."

RIPON CLUB CONCERT

The Ripon college glee club, under the direction of Harold Chamberlain, will appear at the First Congregational church Sunday evening. The Ripon musical organization is known throughout the middle west and will invade this city with a varied program of vocal and instrumental numbers.

The Ripon tour this season is the most extensive to be attempted in recent years and besides singing in the leading cities of Wisconsin and surrounding states. Samuel Pickard, manager, has arranged for a concert at Orchestra hall, Chicago, before the nationally-known Sunday Evening Club. The Crimson Wanderers will also broadcast from stations WTAQ and WGN.

Prominent on this year's club are a number of soloists of exceptional ability. Alvin Brooks, sophomore pianist, won second place in the Wisconsin musical tournament at Madison two years ago. Other exceptional soloists are Joseph Libka, violinist, and James Hudson, clarinetist. These artists also appear as an instrumental trio.

Another feature of the program is the special double quartet, composed of eight of the best voices on the club. This innovation has scored a huge success in all previous appearances of the club this season and is certain to win great favor at the local appearance of the Ripon songsters.

"WHAT PRICE GLORY" STAR WORRIES FOX DIRECTORS

Victor McLaglen, who portrays Capt. Flag in the motion picture "What Price Glory," which comes to Fischers Appleton Theatre one day, Thursday April 21, is the source of no little trouble to Fox Films, which produced the picture and which has him under a long-term contract. The trouble with McLaglen has nothing to do with his temperament nor with anything that he has done, for he is reported to be thoroughly tractable on the "lot" and off. It has to do with getting the right kind of parts for him.

For the first seven years of McLaglen's career in film directors made the mistake of casting him in parts. But since he has become Capt. Flag the job is now to cast parts for him. One point on which critics in all of the seven cities where "What Price Glory" is now playing are unanimous is the thoroughly natural manner in which McLaglen characterizes the unlovely hero. And the hardest thing to find is a scenario which makes a hero of the type of character which McLaglen so aptly takes.

Obviously he can never hope to carry off honors in the role of a lover. McLaglen was born to command and record in the great war proved that, but the time will come when war pictures will be out of date. He might do well in the role of a captain of industry and similar parts were it not for the fact that to be natural he must have plenty of opportunity to move about. Besides, in "directed" roles his talent might be wasted.

"SHATTERED LIVES" PRESENTS NOVEL PHOTOPLAY PLOT
Every woman has some secret locked in her breast but while they may reveal the secrets of others, their own hidden thoughts are always sealed up for ever.

"Shattered Lives," which comes to the New Bijou Monday and Tuesday has a most unique plot dealing with one woman's secret which she thought safe, until danger threatened the one she loved most. Then, her own feelings were forgotten and she spoke.

Elizabeth Trent had raised Donald in the belief that he was her son. He grew up into a manly youth and was all that any woman could desire as a son. He was about to marry a sweet girl of his choice when the blow fell. A lawyer appeared with direct evidence that Donald was a foundling and that Elizabeth Trent's real son was the man he brought with him—a lazy, worthless denizen of the cheap pool rooms of the large city. Donald's dream of life's happiness was shattered. He leaves home and then Fate takes a hand. Circumstances throw him into strange company and he is forced to become the partner of some most unusual adventure which, however, results in the untangling of the mystery surrounding the life of Elizabeth Trent, the woman he had loved as his mother.

VALLEY BASEBALL MAGNATES MEET TO ADOPT SCHEDULE

Managers Make Third Attempt In Two Weeks To Agree On Play Dates

With Play Starting May 1, Decision Must Be Made; Neenah Strengthens

A third attempt to adopt a 1927 schedule for the Fox River Valley Baseball League will be made by managers of teams at a meeting Sunday afternoon at the Conway hotel. During the last few weeks two schedules were prepared by the committee and both were rejected as unsatisfactory by some of the managers. The "team league" with one team resting each week, makes it difficult to prepare a schedule favorable to all managers and there probably still will be objections when the final card is prepared. As the season opens May 1, the schedule must be definitely acted upon Sunday.

Forfeits of $200 must be turned over to President Probstine by the managers of the seven teams, Green Bay, Kaukauna, Kimberly, Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, and Oshkosh, at the meeting. Several other routine matters will be taken up.

STRONG NEENAH TEAM
Reports from Neenah indicate that the Larson crew will be up with the best in the league this year and a pennant for that squad is not at all impossible. Johnny Paris, former star second sacker of the Fondy squad, a reliable fielder and good hitter, resided in Menasha the past winter and has been signed by the Neenah men. Eps Leu, one of Fondy's leading twirlers last year, now lives in Neenah and may be added to the staff. "Wiff" Leu and Nixon as a nucleus, the Neenahites will undoubtedly have the strongest mound staff in the loop. Nixon hurled Neenah to five wins in a row over every team in the loop near the close of the season last year, even upsetting Oshkosh, after he had a good team behind him.

ROG'S STOCK TANGLE

STILL STAYS TANGLED

Pittsburg.—(P)—The Roges' Hornsby stock tangle remained tangled Saturday, with the prospect that the former St. Louis Cardinal leader would be at second base for the New York Giants in the season's inaugural game next Tuesday, under protection of a temporary court injunction for which the New York club was scheduled to apply for not later than Monday. An 8-hour conference of National League club owners here Friday failed to straighten out the situation which resulted when the league president John A. Heydler, ruled that Hornsby could not play with the Giants while retaining ownership of 1/3 share of the St. Louis club's stock. The meeting was called when the Giant management made known that Hornsby would play despite Heydler's ruling. The owners staunchly backed Heydler in his stand but failed to budge the famous slugger from his demand of $105 a share for his block of securities in the world championship club, nor did President Sam Breadon of St. Louis alter his offer of $60 a share for the stock.

SOUTHERN CAGE FIVES FINISH HIGH IN MEET

Chicago.—Basketball teams from the Southland stood out at the recent national tournament staged by the University of Chicago. Although Morton High of Cicero, Ill., won the tourney the south went away with a majority of the places. Batesville, Ark., and Florence, Miss., teams finished second and third, respectively, in the championship flight. Teams from Athens, Tex.; Gilbert, Ariz.; and Durham, N. C., finished second, third and fourth, respectively, in the consolation flight. To climax the meet, four southerners were placed on the all-star quintet.

CLOSE ROLLER SKATING SEASON AT GREEN-BAY

A specially arranged roller skating party will close the 1927 season at the Columbus Community club, Green Bay, Sunday evening, according to Clem Wirtz, manager, and chairman of the state pro roller skating title. The final party will run from 7:30 to 11:30 p. m. on Saturday evening after completing a two game series with the Milwaukee Agricultural College at Starksville. St. Louis university will be engaged in a game on Monday along the return route.

Coach Lowman will have his squad back in Madison in time for a long drill on Tuesday prior to the opening of school. He will then have four days to practice before the first home encounter, which is scheduled for the April 15 with Bradley Tech of Peoria, Ill.

The Badgers are enjoying the most profitable southern excursion in history, their showing against the Southeners indicating that they will again triumph on Saturday evening after completing a two game series with the Milwaukee Agricultural College at Starksville. St. Louis university will be engaged in a game on Monday along the return route.

WON'T SIGN

HUGHIE CRITZ
Hugh Critz remains the last of the holdouts, now that Edd Toulson and Herb Pennock have capitulated. Critz is reported to have asked $50,000 for three years, while Cincinnati has expressed a willingness to pay him $10,000 annually. Critz, whose lastings average over a period of three years totals only .236, apparently places a high value on his fielding service.

SUB INFILDER IS MUCH SOUGHT AFTER

"Specs" Torpocer, Sought by 4 Clubs for Regular, Must Be Sub

St. Louis.—George Torpocer, an athlete to be envied and then again he is entitled to sympathy. Sought by four National League clubs with an opportunity to become a regular, he must continue to fill the duties of substitute infielder with the St. Louis Cardinals. It is known the Brooklyn Superbas and Phillies have been on the trail of Torpocer for three years. Attractive offers have been made for this infielder whose vision is so weak he is forced to wear heavy spectacles. Torpocer's major league career indeed is unique. He was a member of a sand lot team in Jersey City during the 1920 season. His fame as a graceful fielder around second base and hard hitter had spread to the ears of the large league scouts.

Larry Sutton of the Superbas and Dick Kinsella of the Giants were put in Torpocer's trial. They laughed when they lamped him. What a guy wearin' glasses in the major leagues? Then they laughed some more. While they were laughing, Ernie Landgras, owner of the Syracuse club of the International League, played the longshot and lashed. Torpocer was given a trial by Syracuse on the training trip in the spring 1921 and he made such an impression with Branch Ricker, then manager of the Cardinals, that he was bought by the National League.

No regular helped more to win the 1925 pennant for the Cardinals than Substitute Torpocer. In the role of pinchhitter last season he lead the field with an average of .402.

WEISSMULLER LOSES RACE, TAKES TITLE

Chicago.—The title of national A. A. U. swimming champion is Johnny Weissmuller's again. Saturday with only one week to go, a defeat by George Kojac, 17, of Brooklyn, in the 150-yard backstroke championship. Surprised by the lad's victory in the trial heads Weissmuller set such a dizzy pace in the finals that he was unable to keep it up and fell back to third. Weissmuller, however, won all his other efforts, and captained the Illinois A. C. water polo team to a victory for the National A. A. U. title.

the strongest nines in the South and was favored to take two games from the invaders, but the Cards came through and copped the second tilt, 6 to 2. The following day they were rained out at Clinton where they were scheduled with Mississippi college.

The winning of the two top honors, Ellerman and Thelander, is the most encouraging phase of the early games. Both youngsters have been most effective to date, and while dividing the hurling assignment in the initial contest, turned in a shutout. Jacobson and Clausen have also shown well for early season, the latter holding down the Mississippi slugger to six safeties in 9 outings.

Outfielder Mastey, who was shifted to second base the day before the team departed, has practically clinched the infield berth. His fielding has been steady and he has hit as well as any of his mates. Decker is holding down the shortstop post in fine style. With Rose working regularly at the hot corner.

Earl Burkbridge, the fifty little Badger outfielder, had the honor of slugging the first circuit cleat of the year.

COMPLETE 8-TEAM SOFTBALL LEAGUE FOR SUMMER PLAY

Schedule for New 1927 Loop to Start May 3; Charlie La-Mere Is Ump

An eight-club softball league for the summer was organized Thursday evening at the second meeting of team representatives at the Y. M. C. A. The league will start playing on May 3 and the schedule will be completed soon. Teams in circuit are the American Legion, Post-Crescent, Bankers, Co. D of the national guard, August Brandt Co., Badger Printing Co., Interlake Pulp and Paper Co., and the Civics club. The latter team will be a combination of the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis club teams of past years.

ADOPT RULES
Rules and bylaws prepared by the rules committee were adopted. The rules committee, composed of Edward Starnard, Post-Crescent, Phillip Jacobson, Badger Printing Co., and Leslie Smith, American Legion, opened the meeting with its report. Herbert Vockes, president of the league, aided the committee.

In accordance with a suggestion made a few weeks ago, it was decided to hire an umpire for every game, paying him from the league funds, so that he will have the league power behind his decisions and can enforce them. This also was to do away with using men from other participating teams and the trouble of "getting someone to umpire" right up to game time. "Charlie" LaMere, who handled many of the games satisfactorily last year was signed for the permanent ump job.

APPOINT THREE SPORT MANAGERS AT LAWRENCE

Appointments of three athletic managers for Lawrence college teams were made Friday. Jack Walters, Green Bay, was named senior football manager for 1927 with William Tompkins, Oshkosh, as his assistant. Roy Sund, Neenah, Blue basketball and tennis star, was chosen varsity tennis manager for the present season.

PLAN NET MEET

Plans were started for the first tennis tournament of the new Wisconsin-Indiana athletic conference composed of Lawrence, Ripon, Carroll, Lake Forest and Northwestern. The net meet would be held at Lake Forest in conjunction with the annual track and field meet of the conference on May 21.

DICK BOYA TROUNCES GROSS IN FONDY BOUT

Three years of ring inactivity which lasted until a couple months ago, has failed to dim the battling ability of Dick Boya, Appleton boxer, for Dick took his second straight win Friday night since returning to the ring on the first 1927 card of the Appleton Athletic club. Friday evening at Fondy, Dick defeated Myron Gross of Fondy, the champion boy on the card, in convincing fashion and the local fans who have seen Gross battle say he is one of the hardest-fighting, cleanest, fastest and most dangerous men at his weight in the state. Boya won his opener here in a second-round knockout after battering his foe hard the first round.

In the other scraps of the card Willie Ames, Akron, Ohio, beat John Brown, Milwaukee, in the windup; Dick Watzel, Chicago, beat Al Walters, Canton, Ohio, in the semi-windup; and Matty Mathews, Kenosha, shaded Art Perille, Hurley.

GAFFNEY COLORS AGAIN ACTIVE IN RACE WORLD

New York.—James E. Gaffney again has become active in the turf world. After an absence from the tracks for several years, his colors will be seen at Jamaica late in April. Gaffney, who owned the Boston Braves when that club won a world's championship, has joined Tom Welch, one of America's noted trainers, in acquiring a stable of eight of the finest bred juveniles at Belmont Park.

SEEK VICTORIES

Victories other than those in the now passe "Big Three" are so to be craved by Princeton next fall as to be craved by the Tiger eleven a ranking among the great lake states and several other stars. They are not terribly downhearted. They have already started rebuilding for victories next season.

TENNIS HEAD

ROY SUND

Roy Sund, Neenah, Lawrence college basketball star and tennis player for the last three years, has been appointed varsity tennis manager for this year. Sund will direct the Blues in their hardest net schedules in several years, including several dual meets, the state meet and the first meet of the new Wisconsin-Indiana conference. Sund worked as a manager of tennis last year.

CHAMP SWIMMERS IN COLLEGIATES

Many Stars, Including Big Ten Champs, Race at Iowa City Meet

Iowa City.—Seven great swimmers, including three Western Conference champions and one runner-up, from the University of Michigan, and four athletes from Notre Dame have been entered in the National Collegiate A. A. championships.

The title meet will be held at the University of Iowa April 15 and 16 and entry lists close April 9, according to Coach D. A. Armbruster, local manager.

In the ranks of the Wolverine septet, the backbone of the team, which scored 40 points to take the Big Ten title, are two American intercollegiate record holders, and two Western Conference record holders as well as relay teams which set conference marks.

These are the Michigan entries: Captain Samson, holder of the conference and American intercollegiate records in the 220 and 440-yard freestyle events and present Big Ten champion; Darnall, conference 50 and 100-yard champion, holder of 100-yard record; Spindle, conference 150-yard back stroke champion and record holder; Wagner, runner-up for the conference 440-yard title; Hubbell, third place man in the 150-yard back stroke; Seeger, leadoff man on the Big Ten champion 200-yard relay teams which set record and anchor man on the 300-yard medley relay trio which also holds the record; and Watson, member of the 200-yard relay quartet.

Notre Dame has nominated these men: McCaffrey, 200-yard relay, 440 and 880 yard freestyle; Cronin, 200-yard relay, Brykynski, 200-yard relay and Tennis, 200-yard relay.

DAYTON MAN 2ND IN TOURNEY ALL-EVENTS

Peoria, Ill.—(P)—The crack Dwyer Recreation five of New York rolled into a tie for eighth place in the team events of the American Bowling congress tournament, late Friday night with a score of 2,327.

The Easterners chalked up a series of 234, 261 and 1,042 to tie with the Timkens of Canton, Ohio.

Tom Zavakos of Dayton went into second place in the all-events by rolling a series of 559, 723 and 623 for a total score of 1,905.

The 11 rolled five from Los Angeles, Pacific coast champions registered a 2,770 count.

Grandmother Of Golf Has Played Since Back In 1895

BY JIMMY POWERS
New York.—Tip the old chapeau, boys and girls of the younger generation, to a colting grandma!

Here is a broad-shouldered, well-muscled, gray-haired old woman who establishing a record on the links few can ever hope equal.

Her name is Mrs. Cath Fox. Away back in the Mauve decade when golf was nothing if not a nuisance, she entered her first national tournament. That was in 1895. Since that time she has competed in more than 30 national title chases and rarely failed to qualify.

No other player, man or woman, amateur or pro, in this country has made such a sustained showing.

In two years this silver-haired athlete, who wears spectacles and polishes them up now and then to read bed-time stories to her ten grand children, played 10.

"Afternoon naps or knitting or fireside sessions are out for me," she laughs, "as long as I can frolic through 18 holes and top it off with a practice session."

Four years after her first attempt at the U. S. women's crown at Reading, Mass., in 1900, Mrs. Fox, wearing the colors of her home club, Huntington Valley, Philadelphia, fought her way to the finals in 1909, losing by a small margin to Ruth Underhill.

Over a stretch of 30 years she kept consistently at it. Four years ago in the Belvoir Heights meet she trounced Glenna Collett, then national champion.

This winter she knocked off two Florida meets and qualified again in the 1927 Bellair tournament.

Best that for stimulating time! She won the Philadelphia championship five times in 1907, 1908, 1910, 1911 and 1912. In the National at Midlothian, 1907, she was seven strokes above low score. In 1908 at Chevy Chase she was six strokes higher and lost one down to the ultimate winner, the then Miss Kate Harley.

At Merion, in 1912, Mrs. Fox was in a triple tie for low score with Miss Margaret Curtis and Miss Dorothy Campbell, now Mrs. Hurd. Miss Campbell was the first winner of the famed Berthelton Cup and presented to the Huntington Valley Club.

The next year Mrs. Fox herself won it.

This winter her game has been better than it has been for ten years. Among her victims was Mrs. S. C. Crohnau, met among the leaders of Ohio golf and holder of the Cleveland district title.

Mrs. Fox became a grandmother more than 15 years ago.

FRENCH EXECUTIONER WANTS MORE PER HEAD

Paris — (AP) — Auguste Delber, France's official executioner, is discontented because too many death penalties are commuted. He wants more heads to fall or he wants more per head.

He and two of his assistants called on Premier Poincaré recently with their grievances. Poincaré could not promise more heads but he hoped he could find more money for the headmen.

Delber gets a very small salary but a premium for each execution. Recently he complained, there were eight headless months. He said his organization could not live unless there were more, or better paid, deaths.

Delber is the man, looking much like Mephistopheles, pointed beard and all, who presses the button that releases the spring that lets fall the guillotine, stretched in the machine. The guillotine is set up after midnight by the light of candle-lanterns, just as a hundred years ago. The executions are at faint dawn.

Many home owners in Bermuda are preparing for the annual painting of the shutters of their unpainted coral stone houses.

FLOWERS DEEMED PERFECT EASTER GIFT FOR MOTHER

Lilies Are Especially Fine This Year, Junction Greenhouse Reports

Flowers are the most appropriate Easter gift that can be given mother, sweetheart or sister, according to Miles Meidam, owner of the Junction Greenhouse. Flowers have been a staple gift since the first Easter, and that sacred Sunday is scarcely effective unless at least one bouquet is received by mother.

Easter lilies especially are fine this year and Mr. Meidam has invited flower lovers to visit the greenhouse to witness the spectacle of hundreds of Easter lily plants in full bloom. The stalks are longer, foliage is thicker and the flowers are larger, whiter and more beautiful than ever before, according to Mr. Meidam. Easter lilies are especially suited as an Easter gift or for home or church decoration.

In addition to the lilies, literally hundreds of other flowers are in the height of blossom and are suited as Easter gifts. Some of these are: Carnations, snap dragons, calli lilies, tulips, roses, hydrangeas, colored geraniums, with many flowering plants, greens and ferns that make suitable interior and exterior decorations. The size and quality of all plants this year is better than in former years because of the early warm weather and fine growing conditions.

The Junction greenhouse also maintains a flower telegraph service that enables its patrons to send flowers to any part of the world. All that is necessary is to place the order, and the flowers will be delivered to their destination at the designated time. Those whose mothers, sweethearts or sisters are in cities hundreds of miles from Appleton will receive the joy of knowing they were not forgotten by their loved ones on Easter if advantage of this service is taken.

Foreign Trade Good Field For Industrious Young Men

Babson Park, Wis.—Roger W. Babson continues a discussion of his topic "Your Boy's Business" with special reference to opportunities in shipping and foreign trade. Mr. Babson believes this is a good field for young men with energy and willingness to make sacrifices but that it is a very competitive field. Says he:

100 YEARS AGO One hundred years ago, shipping offered the very best opportunities for ambitious young men. Several of my ancestors of Gloucester, Mass., went to sea when 14 years of age and worked up to be master of their ships. They shipped to India, to Africa, and the South Sea Islands taking loads of textiles, hardware, and other New England products and trading them for tea, pepper, spices, etc. This was a wonderful training for men as these trips developed courage, initiative, and judgment as well as integrity, industry, and knowledge. The modern youth would think it a great hardship to travel even for one night in one of these sailing vessels to say nothing of being out six months or a year.

I don't know what would happen under such conditions to the modern sailor. I think he must travel in a Pullman car and have a private bath when stopping at a hotel! Yet it was the courage, industry, and thrift of their ancestors, who traveled in sailing ships, that provided the money which later built America's transcontinental railroads and the best hotels of the United States. I think it was a great training both for business and life. It was a training developed the good habits which young men today so severely lack.

Frankly, our colleges will never succeed in training for business until they discover some way of today accomplishing what "going-to-sea" and the "apprentice system" accomplished years ago. Knowledge always can be purchased, but good business habits can only be acquired through experience.

PRESENT DAY CONDITIONS Conditions in shipping and foreign trade are now infinitely better than they were one hundred years ago. Fine steamers take the place of sailing ships; the United States now has consuls at every foreign port of any consequence; when ashore it is always possible to get a clean room and fair food; while one's life when in a foreign land is no such danger as it was formerly. Yet—consequently—a good job at home ashore—the best job aboard ship, or in a foreign land, is much more strenuous and difficult. To begin with the temptations of such a life are far greater than with a life at home. Hence to succeed in the foreign trade, one must have a strong character, a young man must be temperate, clean, and upright. Most of the men whom I know to have succeeded in such work had moral and physical stamina. Of course, thousands of Americans are in this work who both drink and run around, but they are not the ones who succeed. Moreover, they have the reputation of the entire country because we really are judged abroad by the character of those we send abroad.

Many feel that to succeed in shipping or foreign trade, much entertaining is necessary. It is true that the "non-mixing" is often indispensable in dealing with Latin Americans and certain others who demand much attention before doing business. But a man may be a good mixer and yet not touch liquor or be promiscuous. One of the best entertainers in the United States—a man who has built the electric, gas, and gas plants in several of the Latin American cities—is a teetotaler. He buys or rents a fine home in the foreign city in which he is to operate, taking there his wife and servants, and entertains royally.

His entertaining, however, is a credit to his country and to his character. He is a man who can do a good mixer and yet not touch liquor or be promiscuous. WHERE BEST OPPORTUNITIES EXIST Corporations and individuals contemplating entering foreign trade should most carefully consider the advantages and disadvantages connected with the different countries. Foreign trade resembles mining or drilling for ore in that it is very easy to lose money in seeking foreign trade unless conditions are just right. For instance, probably the greatest foreign speculative possibilities today are in connection with Russian trade; but these are not for Americans. When the time comes to gather the Russian harvest, it will be gathered by Germans and not by Americans. Our only chance to make money in Russia is by backing some honest German and dividing with them the profits. Our chances to do business in South America are much greater than in the United States. The reason is that the British are very firmly entrenched in South America and that both the French and the Germans are also keen competitors of our Americans. The French and Germans are also keen competitors of our Americans. The French and Germans are also keen competitors of our Americans.

time last year, but the difference is small, for many dealers have been filling out their assortments during the last month or so when concessions were obtainable. Yard buying will therefore correspond closely with assumption, and it is not likely that there will be either a large or a rapid advance in wholesale prices. But, on the other hand, there is practically no doubt that prices will be marked up.

Southern yard trade continues good, though it has not been as active as in the middle West, and California demand is taking on activity, but the movement is still rather slow in Atlantic coast territory. West Coast and southern pine mills have been able to secure a little more for dimension and boards in the rail trade with the middle West, and inland Empire and California pine shop items are also showing more strength.

Southern hardwood output has been further reduced by heavy rains and floods, having declined to 74 per cent of normal during the week ended March 26, while there was an increase in bookings to 9 per cent above normal. There has not been much change in quotations, as stocks are still plentiful, though dry material is becoming scarce. The northern hardwoods are moving fairly well, and shortages are predicted because the winter log inventory was subnormal, so that scattered advances have been made in the lists.

NOW IS TIME TO TAKE INVENTORY OF TACKLE BOXES

Groth Tire and Bicycle Shop Carries Full Line of Fishing Equipment

In the spring when both young and old men's fancies, and in many instances women's fancies also, turn to thoughts of fishing, trout streams and green expanses of pike and pickerel waters, then is the time to get out the old fishing tackle box and take the annual inventory, according to Richard Groth of Groth's Tire and Bicycle shop.

If the old reel isn't working just right, if the rod hasn't got quite the right spring and snap, if the flies look worn and bedraggled and scarce fine enough to tempt the palates of the kings of the water, then sportsmen should visit the sport shop where a complete line of fishing tackle of every kind will be found. It should replenish his kit and make ready for a big season. A complete line of Heddon and Shakespeare fishing tackle is carried at Groth's.

According to present indications there will be more fishermen this year than ever before and the year's catch probably will set a record.

In addition to a complete line of fishing tackle, Groth's shop specializes in other sporting equipment and Iver Johnson bicycles.

More than 50 years ago Iver Johnson started his bicycle business with one aim, to produce goods of quality. Today this company is the largest organization of its kind in the world, with hundreds of skilled workers, many of whom have been with the company since its organization.

One of the most recent additions to the Iver Johnson line is the model SS, one of which now is on display at Groth's. It has a trust bridge support frame which greatly strengthens the entire bicycle. The framework is made from seamless steel tubes and the wheels are of finished hard wood. The drive chain is of the improved roller type and the model is complete with a coaster, brake.

IRON PRODUCTION IS FORGING AHEAD

Figure for March is 7 Per Cent Better Than for February

Cleveland, O.—Iron Trade Review says: Iron production in March forged ahead of February by 7 per cent, based on last March by not quite 1 per cent and proved the third best March in history. The daily average rate last month was 112,330 tons, compared with 105,021 tons in February, and 111,554 tons in March, 1926. The "best March" on record—that of 1925—attained a height of 115,207 tons. In point of total production March tonnage was 3,452,228 tons, against 2,940,604 tons in February and 3,458,172 tons in March, 1926. The month closed with 223 blast furnaces active, a gain of 15.

No major threat to this high rate of production has appeared. The colorless iron and steel markets of the past weeks are characteristic of the early stages of a new quarter. The slight shrinkage in steelmaking, however, has been more than made up by the increase in pig iron production. Some March production records were made, as usual, at the expense of April specifications and the sequel is a slight easing up. Steel corporation subsidiaries are down two points from their recent capacity rate, and for the entire industry a slight decline of 90 to 91 per cent is apt.

At this time the bituminous coal strike is a negligible market factor. One coal-carrying road has deferred action on truck material. Some eastern blast furnaces are not quoting on third quarter business. An occasional strip order has been held up. But considering the wide sweep of the markets, there is no disturbance. The Connelville coke region is not affected and coke deliveries are normal.

Bids on second-quarter requirements of the Pennsylvania and New York and Erie railroads for bars, plates and shapes reveal mills firm at $1.30, Pittsburgh and $2.00, Chicago. Sheet prices to these carriers developed a wide spread with a tendency toward weakness. Low bids to the New York Central were 2.25, Youngstown on blue annealed, 2.75 on gray plate, 2.50 on galvanized. Three makers bid $2.20, mill for the blue annealed business of the Pennsylvania.

Pig iron is between two buying seasons and consequently dull. Consumers generally are protected well through second quarter and producers watch the progress of the coal strike.

March freight car awards, totaling 4260, were scarcely more than half of the $9.35 placed last March. First-quarter car orders of 14,975 compare with 20,720 in the corresponding period of 1926.

Pig Iron Trade Review composite of fourteen leading iron and steel products this week is $35.51, compared with $36.59 a week ago and $35.45 one year ago.

MEN'S FASHION ROW INVADDED BY PIRATES

London—(AP)—Pirates have invaded Savile Row, the Mecca of the well-dressed Londoner.

The intruders stitch a Savile Row label into a cheaply-made suit and dispose of their output to second-hand shops which charge a premium under the pretense that it is actually a Savile Row suit.

Some of the intruders are the Prince of Wales and Prince Henry and others of the nobility are among the Rows customers.

The chief pretext, as set forth in the display windows of the second-hand shops, is this:

"This suit was not required by His Lordship who has gone into mourning."

For many years suits left on the hands of the Savile Row tailors have been sold to second-hand dealers, who were alive to the value of the Row label as a stimulation to trade. The legitimate tailors have held meetings and consorted lawyers, but the pirate trade continues its thriving business—utilizing off cheap material on the union—without being noticed among these ex-

RAMSAY MACDONALD IS "THE SOCIALIST SHEIK"

London—(AP)—"The Socialist Sheik" is the new nickname for Ramsay MacDonald, Britain's labor leader and ex-premier who is back from a trip in the Sahara desert.

"In the desert you look at your coat and trousers, and feel what a miserable thing modern dress is," said MacDonald at the Working Men's College here.

"When you go to the desert you must forget about the fussing of civilization. Lying with your back on the sand you are just like a child lying on the breast of its mother a gentle soothing breath of wind passes over you, and you seem like one undergoing the revelation of a great sacrament. That is the general feeling one has of the desert."

"Men seeking for vision, for revelation, in search of spiritual truth; men seeking for the infinite, find it pervading the whole of the magnificent spaciousness of the desert."

SOFTWOOD DEMAND IS HINDERED BY WEATHER
In its weekly review of the market, the American Lumberman, Chicago, says:
Demand for softwoods continues to improve, though bad weather has prevented it from reaching the proportion that is expected each year. This time softwood bookings during the first two weeks of the year exceeded mill production by twelve per cent, whereas for the same period last year the excess was only eleven per cent. The favorable showing is to some extent due to curtailment of production this year, for prices have been at so low a level as to make operations unprofitable. There are, however, signs of greater strength in quotations. Within the last week or so, buyers have paid the prevailing prices without the decline that is usual during a seasonal dullness in trade. And as demand begins to supply, the mills are finding it possible to enforce slight advances. These have affected only the items that are wanted at the start of a building operation, such as dimension and boards, for there is still some weakness evident in such work as roofing.

WEYAUWEGA WOMAN HAS CELEBRATION ON 98TH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Henry Wurzbach, 98, Still Able to Read Without Glasses

Special to Post-Crescent
Weyauwega—Mrs. Henry Wurzbach, Sr., celebrated her ninety-eighth birthday anniversary Sunday at the home of her son, Henry Wurzbach, where she makes her home. Many relatives and friends called on her to offer congratulations. Although nearing the century mark, Mrs. Wurzbach is hale and hearty and enjoys company as much as ever. She has retained her faculties to a remarkable degree, still being able to see without glasses. Mrs. Wurzbach was born in Tilleda, Germany, April 3, 1829, and in August, 1854, with her parents, sailed from Bremen, Germany, landing in New York six weeks later. She came to Weyauwega in 1855, and in 1856 was married to Henry Wurzbach. She resided in Weyauwega for seventy-two years.

Funeral services for Mrs. John Goodnough, who died suddenly Saturday morning, were held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Perry Baxter, at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The Rev. John M. Kellock, pastor of the Presbyterian church, conducted the services.

The pall bearers were: Theodore Peterson, Travin Rieck, Frank Larkee and E. E. Gratz. The burial took place in Oak Hill cemetery, Neenah. Survivors are her widower, John Goodnough of Weyauwega, two daughters, Mrs. Perry Baxter, and Mrs. Mary Ellen Butterworth, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Butterworth and was born in Rosendale, Wis. Her parents came to this country, settling in Rosendale, Wis. In 1853 her husband died. In 1854 she married John Goodnough, who was a teacher in the government school. From there the family came to Waupaca living in several places. During the world war, Mr. Goodnough was again a teacher at Onida. For the past few years the family have lived in Weyauwega.

Relatives here have received word of the death of Mrs. William Nitschke, 43, of Chicago, which occurred at her home Sunday, April 2. The deceased was formerly Mrs. Mary Matilda Nitschke, nee Helling, and was born in Weyauwega. Survivors are her widower and one son, five sisters and two brothers. Funeral services were held at Chicago Wednesday. Her brother, Louis Helling of Weyauwega and Mrs. Emma Greider of Fremont attended the funeral.

Murray Kellock, son of the Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Kellock, who has a position as pharmacist in Oakland, Calif., is expected home this week. He will remain in Wisconsin. His sister, Miss Grace Kellock, who is a supernumerary nurse at the General hospital in Madison, is also expected home for a visit.

MISSIONARY RETURNS
Miss Nova Rohde, a missionary to Java the past five years, arrived home Tuesday night. She gave a talk in Chicago, Tuesday. She left Wednesday evening for Chicago to attend a banquet given Thursday for the returned missionaries. From there she will go to St. Louis, Mo., where she is to give a lecture. She will return home Saturday.

George T. Classon, the newly appointed postmaster has taken charge of the postoffice.

Mrs. Laura Mackmiller of Ashland is visiting at the home of her sister Miss Hulda Bauer and her brother, F. W. Bauer and family.

Mrs. Mackmiller will be remembered as Miss Laura Bauer of Weyauwega.

Grant Mason has returned home from Appleton, where he has been at St. Elizabeth hospital the past few weeks, recovering from an operation.

Miss Elizabeth Pope returned home Tuesday afternoon after spending a week with relatives in Lind and Waupaca.

BORDEN CO. WILL SHIP CAN WASHER TO SOUTH

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—A large double can washer, recently completed by workmen, under the supervision of J. H. Beumler, construction foreman at the Borden company, will be shipped to the company's southern factory at Leavenworth, Tenn. The can washer is an invention of W. E. Mitten, superintendent of the local factory, and several of the intricate machines have been completed in this city. The machine in its finished state assumes such a size as to make handling through ordinary doors impossible. A large opening in the west side of the factory has been made to permit the crated mechanism to be mounted on trucks.

Plenty Of Flowers For Coming Easter Season

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Local florists are complacently awaiting the coming of Easter. They state that the outlook for an abundance of stately Madonna lilies is excellent this year. Visits to the green houses at this time are well worth while, for there is a beautiful profusion of spring flowers in blossom. Tulips of astonishing shades and sizes and hyacinths of such fragrance as to convert the spectator to the teachings of Omar, that optimism is old healthiness with advice buying hyacinths for the sake of one's soul.

HOLD SERVICES FOR ACCIDENT VICTIM

Albert Marquardt, Fremont, Killed at Dale, Is Buried in Lutheran Cemetery

Special to Post-Crescent
Fremont—Private funeral services were held for Albert Marquardt at the Bauer undertaking parlor, at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The Rev. E. A. Schmidt conducted the services. Burial was made at the Lutheran cemetery, Fremont.

Mr. Marquardt was born Dec. 25, 1893, at Fremont, and was 33 years old at the time of his accidental death on the Soo Line railroad tracks at Dale. He was in the world war for about a year and was gassed while in action in France. He had been working for Charles Hoffman, Dale farmer, at the time of his death. The deceased is survived by his mother, Mrs. Amelia Marquardt, four brothers, Walter and Rheinhart of Fremont, Otto of Neenah, and Richard of Milwaukee, and two sisters, Mrs. Theil and Mrs. Arthur Seefeld of Split Rock.

The Allen Lumber Co. sawmill started its regular spring sawing season Wednesday. Sawing will be done for farmers many of which are daily hauling large quantities of logs. A large raft of logs was floated from Northport down the Wolf river to the mill on the banks of the river. Some planning will be done. About a score of men are employed and the season will continue for several weeks.

The Oshkosh bus, which has not made its trips to Stevens Point for several weeks because of bad roads on highway 55 near Fremont and on the highway between Waupaca and Stevens Point, resumed its schedule trips Tuesday. The highway entering Readfield on the south, which is the old highway 55, is still used as a detour road.

Mrs. Mary Zuehlke, Mrs. Herman Zuehlke, and Mrs. John Drews were hostesses at the regular monthly meeting of the St. Paul's Lutheran ladies aid society, held at the parochial school building, Wednesday afternoon. Other members who attended were Mesdames W. Struzinski, Herman Hah William Sommers, William Fisher, E. J. Sader and Mrs. E. A. Schmidt.

The Rev. E. Schneider will confirm seven catechism students at 10 o'clock at the St. Johns Lutheran church at East Bloomfield, this Sunday forenoon. The students are Marvin Strej, Harold Bartel, Walter Schmidt, Huber Struck and Misses Nina Zeitlow, Erma Bartel and Lenora Kempf.

There will be services in German at 10 o'clock at the St. Paul's Lutheran church, Sunday forenoon.

grow bumper crops!

Your farm won't grow big healthy crops unless you plant clean, healthy, vigorous seeds.

Considering your time and labor and your investment in land and farm machinery you can't afford to buy any but dependable seeds.

Rainbo field and grass seeds and seed corn are satisfactory because of their high uniform quality. We recommend them.

The Super-Six Principle freed to the limit

Fast Get-away

and performance so smooth that only a stop watch shows how swift

The smoothness with which the Super-Six glides from starting start to high speed is totally different from the violent lunge with which high powered cars usually get under way.

And so in all it does there is such effortless ease that driver and passengers hardly realize how great is their performance supremacy.

The smooth, silent and elastic flow of power from the released Super-Six principle has set a new standard of unusual performance. At any speed and for any distance you demand you will never feel the slightest effort is exerted by motor or chassis.

You may never require such speed or power. But it is important that this ability results from absolute smoothness and freedom from vibration. The over-capacity means reserve ability for any task. It means minimum wear and repair need. It means easy riding without fatigue.

Until you ride in the Hudson Super-Six there is a motoring thrill you never can know.

KIMBERLY MAN PUT ON PROBATION FOR YEAR

Pleading guilty to threatening his wife with harm, John Dickmann, Kimberly, Saturday morning was put under probation to Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke for a year by Judge Theodore Deyo of municipal court.

Dickmann was arrested early Thursday morning by Sheriff Zuehlke and Otto Wicker, under-sheriff, at his home in Kimberly.

The sheriff and his assistant were called to Kimberly about 3:30 Thursday morning by the defendant's wife, who said that he had returned home shortly after midnight, pulled her out of bed and beaten her before she was able to escape.

When the officers arrived at the home, they found him in bed, armed with a hatchet.

He was returned to the county jail and held there until his trial.

FINED $100, COSTS FOR ILLEGAL FISHING

Pleading guilty to violating the game laws, Wilbur Zimmer, town of Horton, Friday was fined $100 and costs of $5.00 upon his arraignment in municipal court before Judge Theodore Deyo.

He was arrested Wednesday by A. Dunham, Oshkosh, a game warden, who caught him on the Wolf river with a steel trap.

Form Softball Team Plans for a club softball team for this summer will be completed at the regular meeting of the Freshman Triangles club Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. The club challenges any team in the city composed of boys of high school freshman age or younger.

Replies to the challenge should be left at the boys' department desk at the association.

FRENCH ASK PARDON FOR CONDEMNED MAN

was studying called protests from England, Switzerland and Germany while at Buenos Aires the second day of a 48 hour strike, called by the regional Federation of Labor, had tied up port operations, caused a shortage of bread and put taxicabs out of running.

The governor said: "The evidence in the Sacco-Vanzetti case has never been presented to me. Consequently, I have not formed any opinion of it. The cablegrams included one bearing the signature of 21 labor members of the British house of commons which were collected by an organization called 'The International Class War Prisoners Aid.' It asked Governor Fuller for immediate release of both prisoners.

A communication of Zurich signed by Senator Louis De Brouckere of the political prisoners committee of the Labor and Socialist international and a message from the Rote Hilfe Deutsch, understood to be a radical workers organization in Germany, expressed conviction that the prisoners were innocent.

It was considered certain that attempts to obtain intervention of federal courts as well as an appeal to the governor for an executive review would be part of the program of counsel for the defense.

PLAN HOUR STRIKE

New York (AP)—Plan for a one hour strike of all New York city trades within the next two weeks as a protest against the sentencing of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti were announced Saturday by editors of Il Nuovo Mundo, Italian newspaper.

A meeting of representatives of all the trades has been called for Thursday of next week to set a date for the strike and arrange other details, it was said.

COLLEGE STUDENTS GET SPRING CLEANING JOBS

Spring house cleaning has brought extra money to many Lawrence college boys and to a few girls. Rug beating, window washing, and the annual removal of storm windows are the principal jobs open to students, but some girls are helping dust and run vacuum cleaners.

An employment bureau is operated at the college office where employers and prospective employees register for the kind of work desired. Most students applying for work are freshmen.

Purpose tending jobs still are open to men students, but these will be shod down in a few weeks, and then though house cleaning is usually considered a feminine occupation, the applications for work at the college of men would look otherwise. It is the men who want the so-called "odd jobs" and a long list usually awaits employers. The work is done on an hourly rate of pay, as a rule.

VAGRANT SENTENCED TO JAIL FOR 5 DAYS

Judge Theodore Berg Friday morning sentenced Roy T. Martin, 21 years old, Miller, S. D., to five days in the county jail for vagrancy. Martin was arrested at 11 o'clock Thursday night by Sergeant John Dural. He has been in the city for several days sleeping in out of the way buildings, and begging on the streets, according to police.

CITY WILL START SUIT AGAINST DELINQUENTS

Delinquent personal property tax payers are warned that the city of Appleton will start suit against them by April 15, the property either will be seized and sold to settle the account, or suits will be brought against them. According to Mr. Bachman, there is approximately $5,000 that remains uncollected.

MANITOWOC TO FETE SCOUT EXECUTIVES

Mead Hanson, Boy Scout executive of the Manitowoc council, will be host to Scout executives of this section of Wisconsin at a conference at the Manitowoc Elks club on Tuesday, April 19, according to P. O. Keicher, Valley executive. In his invitation to Mr. Keicher, the Manitowoc executive said his city had just completed a drive for $5,000 for the 1927 budget and had some over the top with $6,000. Manitowoc is only a city council, and the entire sum is raised there.

WISCONSIN WEATHER

Mostly cloudy tonight and Sunday, probably showers in west portion, and by Sunday in east portion; not much change in temperature.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

An extensive low pressure system which has been developing over the far west for a couple of days has now thrown an offshoot over the southern states with rain, and another to the northwestern plains area, with rain over the eastern slope of the Rockies. It is expected that the rain area will reach this section by late tonight or on Sunday, with showers. Temperatures are normal or above over the plains and the temperature will be moderate here. Higher pressure with low temperature is appearing over extreme northern Alberta and is being followed by a "low" moving eastward, which should affect this section the latter part of next week.

COOL WEATHER FORECAST PART OF COMING WEEK

Following is the weather outlook for the coming week:
For the region of the Great lakes—Precipitation first and probably latter part of week; cool most of week.
For the upper Mississippi valley—mostly fair first part of week; probably a shower period latter part; temperature below normal most of week.

BIRTHS

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph West, 314 Outagamie-st., at St. Elizabeth hospital Saturday morning.

MOTORCYCLE HITS HOUSE; 1 IS HURT

Thomas McKenzie is Taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by Passing Motorist

One man was injured and two men narrowly escaped injury when a motorcycle on which the three were riding ran into a house on the north-west corner of N. Richmond and W. Lawrence a few minutes after 11 o'clock Saturday morning.

The injured man is Thomas McKenzie, 121 E. Kimball-st. He was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital by a passing motorist, where physicians reported that his leg was hurt.

MAY DESIGNATE MAY 1 TO 7 AS "CLEAN-UP WEEK"

Cleanliness of Homes and Grounds Is Urged by Industrial Commission

The period of May 1 to 7 probably will be proclaimed by Mayor Albert C. Rule as "Clean Up Week." As has been the custom in past years, property owners will be urged to collect refuse around their homes and pile it in the streets, where it will be picked up in trucks which the city will send around.

Action of this nature is urged by the Industrial Commission of Wisconsin. If the home, shop, store or factory is clean, the chances of fire breaking out are slight, it is pointed out. If the basement is filled with old boxes, barrels, excelsior and other packing materials, there is great danger that fire might result at any time.

Attics should not be littered up with broken furniture and playthings, papers, magazines, old hats and clothing, old letters and other combustible, useless stuff. Neither should closets be filled with ragged, discarded clothing, newspapers and rubbish. Any straw packing around buildings or dead leaves in corners or nooks should be removed.

Rubbish is unsightly, the commission points out, it destroys civic and home pride and manhood. Fires start in rubbish, sometimes through spontaneous combustion. A spark, a discarded match, cigarette butt or cigar stub, usually starts a fire if thrown in rubbish. There also is the danger of countless disease germs lurking in rubbish piles.

Rubbish and combustible materials accumulate during winter, and spring is the time for a thorough general clean-up in cellars, garrets, closets and yards, according to the commission. The city is urged to designate firemen and health officers to see that the work is done.

Boy Scouts and school children may be enlisted to clean up parks, school grounds and buildings. Commercial clubs, women's clubs and other civic bodies should take an active part in the work and in all movements to beautify the city.

"The prudent property owner will attend to other things as well," said some member of the commission. "He will replace the dry, moss-grown, punky shingles with incombustible roof covering, will repair and clean out the chimney, close up needless openings in sidings where sparks may enter, replace rusty smokepipes, use paint and whitewash liberally, repair electric wiring and plant flowers or vegetables in place of unsightly weeds."

"It's the everlasting team work of every blooming soul that wins the day."

COMMITTEE WILL HOLD HEARING ON ZONING

Objections to an ordinance placing two lots between W. Second st. and the Chicago and Northwestern railroad right of way west of S. Mason st. in a commercial and light manufacturing district, will be heard by the ordinance committee of the common council at a hearing at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning, April 19. This ordinance was introduced at the last council meeting. Alderman J. H. Fiedler of the Sixth ward is chairman of the committee.

COUNCIL TO STUDY CHANGES OF RULES

Aldermen Will Meet Informally Next Week With Mayor Albert Rule

The common council will meet with Mayor A. C. Rule next week to discuss changes in the council rules for the ensuing year. The meeting will not be formal and no definite action will be taken, but the alderman probably will settle many difficult points before that time.

One change which probably will be made this year will be the method of organizing the finance committee. According to Mayor Rule, this committee now is made up of two members chosen at large and the chairmen of the street and bridges committee, fire and water committee, poor committee and street lighting committee. This makes it necessary to do much shifting in making committee appointments so that each ward will have a representative on the finance committee. The mayor will endeavor to have the alderman change this rule so that the committee will be composed of one member from each ward.

WATER DEPARTMENT INCOME INCREASING

The income of the Appleton Water department in February was $11,548.67, an increase of $490.65 over the same month last year, according to the monthly statement of A. Zebell, accountant. Operating expenses were $6,634.11.

ADVISE CITIES TO PICK GOVERNMENTS THAT WILL SATISFY

Two Rivers Man Lays Particular Stress on City Manager Form of Government

Madison—(C)—The type of government that will "satisfy" should be chosen by Wisconsin municipalities. Richard Biehl, city manager of Two Rivers, said Friday before the convention of city superintendents.

Outlining the three forms of city government in effect through out the Badger state, Mr. Biehl laid particular emphasis on the city manager plan but pointed out the various factors which might be considered before readjusting political machinery.

The mayor-council type and the commission plan are probably best suited for certain communities, he said.

"When we consider these types of organization, it might be well to bear in mind that if we could be successful in deciding upon the one best suited to the needs of our cities we would have solved one-third of the problem."

"The other two-thirds of the problem would consist of stimulating and maintaining public interest in civic government. A good city government must satisfy. It must be close to the tax payers, responsive to their wishes and must give them sufficient public service at a price they can afford to pay."

"The mayor council plan has been improved by a modification which centralizes power and responsibility in the mayor. Under this plan, the mayor appoints, without council confirmation, the various city employees. Difficulties under this strong mayor type are: the long ballot, spoils system, political elections."

"In 1901 there developed in municipal government a definite form. This was brought about, incidentally, by the Galveston flood in 1900 which destroyed the city. The old government was not able to cope with the situation. The city did away with the mayor-council form and many boards and centralized on a commission manager and small boards. This form practically remedied the situation, and since then has spread to more than 300 cities."

"In 1912 there developed in Stanton, Va., the city manager plan as a temporary expedient. Two years later the first charter was granted Dayton, O. The plan has spread rapidly and 382 cities use this form."

"Under the city manager plan the council usually consists of from three to nine members with a large number in larger cities. The council chooses one of its number to act as president or as mayor. The man should be a trained executive, experienced in handling city problems. He need not be a resident of the city."

"Under this plan of government the highest type of public spirited citizens are attracted to serve on the council."

This form as a rule does away with politicians who are so often attracted by the small salary so commonly offered under other plans.

"Two Rivers has operated under the manager plan of government almost two years. During this time the city's portion of the tax rate has been reduced 25 per cent. Purchasing, which is done through the office of the city manager has saved the city not less than $12,000 a year. Better prices are secured on all contracts with a reduction of from 10 to 20 per cent over the former prices paid."

HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

The annual congregational business meeting will be held at 8 o'clock on April 27 at the North Seymour church. All members are urged to attend. On April 17, a preaching and communion service will be held at the Evangelical church at North Seymour at 2:15 in the afternoon.

Slowing Up?

Waste Impurities In The Blood Make
One Languid and Inefficient

OVERWORK, worry and lack of rest, all tend to fill the blood with impurities. Beyond the ordinary ability of the kidneys to immediately eliminate them.

These unfiltered body poisons are apt to make one languid, tired and aching, with dull headaches, dizziness, and often a nagging backache. A common symptom of imperfect kidney function is scanty or burning excretions.

Doan's Pills, stimulant diuretic, assist the kidneys in their eliminative work. Doan's act on the kidneys only. Are endorsed by users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. Gust Green, 1935 E. Walnut St., Des Moines, Iowa, says: "I was miserable with backache and knew my kidneys weren't acting right, as the excretions were scanty and burned in passing. A friend recommended Doan's Pills and they helped me promptly. Continued use corrected the trouble and I have since told hundreds about Doan's."

Carl W. Bartz, 526 Pine St., Owasco, Mich., says: "I had reason to believe my kidneys weren't acting right because the secretions didn't pass often enough. Headaches were annoying. I was tired and without ambition and was bothered by a nagging backache. I tried Doan's Pills and they were prompt in helping me. It wasn't long before I felt like myself again."
